FIRE CHIEF SAUNDERS STIRS NEWELL PUTNAM

Commissioner Addresses Letter to Fire Chief About an Interview Appearing in The Sun

In conversation with a representative of The Sun a few days ago, Edward F. Saunders, chief of the fire department, stated that he had reported an unsafe building to the office of Commissioner Putnam. He also stated that there are hundreds of fire traps in Lowell and a number of buildings that ought to be torn down in the interest of public health and safety.

When Commissioner Newell F.
Putnam and his inspector, Francis Connor, read what Fire Chief Saunders had said they hastened to become peeved and the commissioner decided that he would write Mr.
Saunders a letter. The commissioner declares that the chief has not responded to the letter.

Men Who Govern and Guard Nation in New York for Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Men who govern and guard the nation are here in thousands today to see the annual football game played by West Point and Annapolis. Streets and hotels are gay with the gold and gray of the army, and the blue and gold of the navy. Admirals and generals, cabinet members, senators and representatives are as much in evidence as policemen. It is estimated that 25,000 persons came from outside the city to see the contest. The grand double decked stands at the Brush stadium where the major league baseball clubs play baseball all summer began to gather a brilliant thrill long before 2 o'clock. The time set for the beginning of the game. The field had been groomed to billiard table smoothness, and its condition comforted the adherents of the Navy, who hoped for a fast, dry field that would give the middies opportunity for their best defense against the heavy line plunging tactics expected of the cadets. Betting favored the Army on its record.

Early comers awaited expectantly for the arrival of President Wilson and his family. Mrs. Norman Galt, who left Washington this morning, a considerable portion of the president's cabinet, including Secretary Daniels of the navy and Secretary Garrison of the war department, arrived here last night or this morning.

The corridors of the two hotels where the rival eleven made their headquarters were thronged with Gray Point alumni of Annapolis and West Point.
Judging from the list of box holders, nearly every retired army or navy officer in this part of the country who is able to make the journey will see the game. Army and navy football stars of other years and noted players of the past and present from most of the big colleges in the east were among the crowd.

The regiment of midshipmen left Annapolis early in the day and the cadet battalion started from West Point soon after. In time to arrive at the scene of the game and march on the field shortly before the ball was put in play.

The lineup and the officials of the game follow:

Army	Navy
Neyland re	de VonHeimberg
Jones It	It Ward
Officer It	It Kecker
McGowan re	It Goodstein
Weyand (captain) It	It Gilman
Redfield It	It Johnson
Gerhardt qb	It Cratz
Forb It	It Westphal
Oliphant rfb	It Davis
Coffin It	It Martin

Officials of the game: Referee, W. S.
Langford. Trinity; umpire, F. W. Murphy. Brown; field judge, J. A. Evans.

FORMIDABLE ALLIED ARMY IN BALKANS

Troops Continue to Land at Saloniki—

103,500 Serbs Captured by Invaders

—Kitchener Strengthens Accord Between Italy and Allies—Berlin Denies

Czartorysk Retaken by Russians

While the Serbians continue to be driven nearer the border of their country and at points have retreated over-it, the entente allies apparently are placing a formidable army in the Balkans.

Allied troops in large numbers continue to be landed at Saloniki, says a news agency despatch from that city.
Permission for the landing of allied forces at other Greek ports has been obtained from the Greek government, according to unofficial advices from Athens. Some 125,000 men are said already to have debarked at Saloniki, and 40,000 or 45,000 more are on the way.

103,500 Serbians Captured

A semi-official announcement in Berlin gives the number of Serbians taken prisoner by the Austro-German and Bulgarian troops as 103,500 while 2000 Austro-Hungarians who were captured by the Serbians were set free.

British Retake Ctesiphon

The British expedition in Mesopotania is again in possession of Ctesiphon, near Bagdad, after its recent temporary withdrawal a short distance because of lack of water, London is advised.

Italian attacks on the defenses of Gorizia continue, Rome reports, the battled-won positions being strengthened despite Austrian counter attacks.

Invaders Advance

The Germans have occupied the heights on the west bank of the Sittica river west of Pristina and on the western side of the Kosovo plain.
Austrian troops are pushing their advance southwest of Mitrovitz.

Kitchener's Conference

Field Marshal Earl Kitchener's conference with Italian military authorities in Rome and on the Italian front have resulted in strengthening the accord between Italy and her allies and have helped shape the plans for active assistance by Italy in the entente campaign in the Balkans, a Rome despatch states.

Turks Claim Success

Successes for the Turks on the Gallipoli peninsula in inflicting losses upon the allied troops are announced by Constantinople. Numbers of the expeditionary force have been killed, while gun positions have been destroyed and guns put out of action, it is declared.

A wireless message from Berlin declares the reports that the Russians have retaken Czartorysk in Volhynia, are untrue.

It asserts that there are no Russian troops on the west bank of the Sty-r river.

TO KILL RIVER PROJECT

Col. Craighill's Report Examined for Sun — Would Link Lowell With Manchester

The Sun has had its Washington correspondent look up Col. Craighill's adverse report upon the proposed improvements of the Merrimack river.
The correspondent finds that Col. Craighill reaffirms his former objections, claiming that the bearing of the project did not change his views. He expresses the opinion that the benefit to be derived from making the Merrimack navigable from Lowell to the sea is uncertain and in his opinion not commensurate with the costs that would have to be incurred. The proposed dam at Lion's Mouth, he claims, would be detrimental to existing improvements on account of the tidal scour. He urges also in opposition to the movement, the necessity of changing the system of sewerage under which at the present time the river is the principal source of drainage for several large cities.

Another objection which is urged as an additional reason for delay is the fact that the city of Manchester is agitating for improvements that would make the river navigable from that city to the seaboard. Col. Craighill claims that possible final conclusions may be withheld until a report covering that stretch of the river is available.

Meeting at Lawrence

The waterway committee of the Lowell board of trade will meet similar committees from Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport at Lawrence next Tuesday for the purpose of discussing the adverse report of Col. Craighill on the deepening of the Merrimack river.

The meeting will be held at the chamber of commerce in Lawrence at 10.30
a. m. and it is expected it will be largely attended. It is believed that some action will be taken to revive the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable from Lowell to the sea.

CHAMPION OF CITY

The cup won by Albert Nepes, in the ten mile road race, conducted by the exhibition in Campbell's drug store.

The winner of the cup now claims the undisputed right to the title of long ready to defend it.

FORD'S PEACE MISSION

CARDINAL GIBBONS AT BALTI-

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 27.—Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, called upon Cardinal Gibbons today to pay his respects and outline his plans for his proposed peace mission to Europe.

The cardinal devoutly echoed Mr.
Ford's hopes for a successful culmination of the project by Christmas, but he was averse to giving the manufacturer's plan his formal approval. He said he felt there were too many formidable difficulties in the way to hope for its successful culmination.

Upon leaving the cardinal, Mr. Ford said he was going to Philadelphia, where he had a dinner engagement with John Wanamaker.

GOV. MILLER DECLINES

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 27.—Gov.
Miller has declined Henry Ford's invitation to accompany him to Europe on the proposed peace mission. The governor today telegraphed Mr. Ford that official duties would not warrant him leaving the state for such a long period.

GOV. SPAULDING RAPS PLAN

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 27.—Gov.
Rolland H. Spaulding today sent the following message in reply to the invitation of Henry Ford to be his guest on the proposed peace mission:

"My official duties would make it impossible for me to take part in your proposed peace mission even if I believed, which I do not, that the undertaking is wise and practicable."

MRS. ANDREWS DECLINES

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Fanny Fern Andrews of Boston, a member of the international congress to study and determine upon a basis for a durable peace, announced today that she had declined Henry Ford's invitation to accompany his proposed peace commission to Europe.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR U. S. BORDER TROOPS

Gen. Obregon Prepares to Take Field at Nogales, Sonora, to Run Down Villa Soldiers

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 27.—Gen. Alvaro Obregon, whose Carranza forces occupied Nogales, Sonora, yesterday after snipers had exchanged shots with United States troops causing the death of one American and wounding two others, is preparing today to take the field in an effort to run down the remaining Villa soldiers who fled from the Mexican town.

U. S. REINFORCEMENTS

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 27.—With the evacuation of Nogales, Sonora, by Gen.
Villa's forces and the arrival here today of an additional 1700 United States infantrymen to reinforce the border troops at this point, residents of this town experienced a feeling of security such as had not been enjoyed since Villa forces took possession of Nogales, Sonora, following their defeat at Agua Prieta.

The belief was generally expressed that should there be a recurrence of the exciting events of yesterday when Villa snipers fired into American territory from the Mexican side, killing one United States soldier and wounding two others, such an attack would meet with prompt and vigorous response.

FREIGHT TIE UP

New York Yards Choked

—R. R. Refuses Freight for Export

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, whose lines are choked as far back as Scranton with loaded freight cars it cannot move, today instructed its agents to accept no more freight for export till further notice.

More than 6000 loaded cars from the west, all containing grain, feed, flour, copper and hundreds of other commodities, have virtually turned the terminals and sidings of the road into storage warehouses for weeks. Some of the cars have been held here for 50 days.

Inquiry at other railroad offices developed that nearly every road terminating here is glutted with freight cars, standing loaded and idle on sidings for hundreds of miles back along the line, and that other roads would follow the Lackawanna's lead shortly.

For months, New York, mouth of the bottle through which pours the great bulk of America's export trade, has been clogged with freight in excess of the facilities of the steamship companies attempting to handle it.

GEORGE SIGSBEE, OF TEWKSBURY,

RUN OVER BY DUMP-CART—LEG FRACTURED

George Sigsbee of Tewksbury, a teamster employed by the Avery Chemi-on the wagon of a dump-cart in the yard of the company about 2.45 o'clock this forenoon and sustained a fractured leg and probably other injuries. Sigsbee was driving his wagon through the yard and was thrown from his seat onto the ground, the rear wheel passing over his legs. He was removed in the private ambulance to St John's hospital.

FAVORS DEFENSE TAX

SEN. SIMMONS INDORSSES SEC. MCADOO'S PLAN—SEN. SMOOT OF UTAH HAD'S STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Sec. McAdoo's plan for raising by internal taxes the additional revenue needed by the government to meet a deficit and cover the initial expense of army and navy increases, was endorsed yesterday by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee. While Senator Simmons was announcing his views, Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the leading republican members of the finance committee, gave out a statement attacking Sec. McAdoo's general financial statement. The Utah senator stated that all the secretary's revenue estimates were too high and that the expenditures were too low and that misleading bookkeeping changes had been resorted to.

"With reference to preparedness generally, I think that the sentiment of the people of my state would be against what has been characterized as frenzied preparedness, but overwhelmingly in favor of what might be termed common sense preparedness, that is, preparedness that would enable us to defend ourselves if attacked, and to defend our rights upon the high seas, as well as the land, if these rights are invaded."

"I would have a navy adequate not only for defense, but adequate to assert our rights."

B. P. O. ELKS BIG SHOW

LOWELL LODGE WILL HOLD FORTH AT KEITH'S IN AID OF CHRISTMAS CHARITY FUND

One of the features of Elksdom the country over, is the Christmas charity feature of the organization. Every lodge of Elks whether in the big cities or in the obscure towns, at Christmas time dispenses charity without ostentation among the worthy poor. The first consideration is for the families in need. Having looked after them, they then give their attention to the worthy poor of their community, the members seeking out such cases, assisted by the police and others who are in touch with the poor.

Last year the members of Lowell lodge to a man contributed cheerfully to the Christmas charity fund and hundreds of poor families were made happy.

This year the Elks will continue their good work, but have adopted a different method of raising the fund. Instead of taking up contributions they will hold a minstrel entertainment at Keith's theatre on the evening of Dec. 7 which will consist of a minstrel first part and olio followed by the regular Keith's professional bill. A similar show given by the Elks some time ago proved to be one of the biggest attractions of its kind ever held in Lowell and the Christmas show promises to excel the initial effort. As Warren Churchill is the musical director and has been rehearsing a chorus of 50 voices twice weekly for the past four weeks, "Herb" Webster will again officiate as interlocutor, and as Charlie Kelchner would say, "He can do it."

All the old favorite soloists will take part and several new ones. Among the soloists will be Andrew A. McCarthy, James E. Donnelly, Ernest J. Dwyer, Richard Robinson and James H. Daley. For end men there will be "Tip" Handley, of Honey Roy fame, Harry Pitts, Gene Brown, "Big Bill" Patrick, and Eddie Killepatrick. Then there will be five big acts in the olio, including Jim Walker, Joe Haggerty and Chris Hagan. In an entirely new blackface musical and dancing act which promises to be a hummer. Manager Ben Pickett of Keith's, who is a member of Lowell lodge, is arranging for a specially attractive professional bill for the week. Tickets will go on sale at Keith's on Wednesday, Dec. 1, or may be secured in the meantime from members of the entertainment committee. Those who intend to purchase tickets are advised to get them as soon as possible as the advance sale is large and the theatre without doubt will be sold out long before the date of the show. In the meantime show the performers consist of members of Lowell lodge of Elks, exclusively. There will be no outside talent.

LOWELL PRIESTS CHOSEN

APPOINTED BY WILLIAM CARDINAL O'CONNELL TO IMPORTANT POSITIONS

The many friends of Rev. C. Victor Choquette, a native of this city and son of Mrs. Josephine Choquette of 772 Moody street, will be pleased to learn he has been appointed pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Brockton, which means that he has been transferred to a more important parish, for he was pastor of St. Joseph's church, Malden. Another important change made this week by William Cardinal O'Connell is the promotion of Rev. Henri J. Filion, another former resident of this city, from assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church, Salem, to the pastorate of St. Joseph's church, Malden.

Rev. C. Victor Choquette was born in Lowell, 37 years ago. He received his elementary education at St. Joseph's convent and St. Joseph's college, this city. Later he entered the Holy Angels college at Buffalo, N. Y., and finally finished his studies at St. John's seminary, Brighton, being ordained there in June, 1902.

Shortly after his ordination Fr. Choquette was assigned to the Sacred Heart church, Brockton, as assistant pastor, where he remained 10 years. He had won the esteem of the parishioners, and it was with sorrow that they heard of his transfer to Malden.

The young clergyman, upon arriving at Malden, where he was delegated to found a new parish, purchased a tract of land and for several months collected mass under a tent. Finally, he purchased a large building formerly occupied as a stable and converted it into a church. Last year the energetic young priest bought a large tract of land and made plans for the erection of a magnificent church. He also purchased a two-apartment house, which he remodeled into a modern rectory.

A couple of weeks ago Rev. Fr. Choquette, who had been pastor of the Sacred Heart church in Brockton, passed away, causing a vacancy which Rev. Fr. Choquette will fill. He will take up his new duties next Monday, and will have as his assistant Rev. A. Fortier, formerly assistant pastor of St. Louis church, this city. The Brockton parish is a well established parish. It has a fine church and a modern parochial school, and it is fair to assume that under the direction of Fr. Choquette the parish will keep on progressing as it has in the past.

REV. FILION

Rev. Henri J. Filion, who has been assigned as pastor of St. Joseph's church, Malden, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Filion, of 245 Hill street. He was born at Actonville, Que., 25 years ago. At the age of three his parents removed to Nashua, N. H., and it was there that the young clergyman received his elementary education.

Fr. Filion pursued his classical course at the St. Hyacinthe convent school and later completed his theology at St. John's seminary, Brighton. He was ordained at the latter place on June 5, 1911, and shortly after his ordination he was assigned to St. Joseph's church, Salem, as assistant pastor. The young clergyman was connected with the Salem church during the great conflagration, and he proved of great help to the afflicted. Fr. Filion is a bright and energetic young man and his friends predict he will be successful as pastor of St. Joseph's church in Malden.

BATTLE NEAR BAGDAD

REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN AN IMPORTANT SUCCESS FOR THE ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The battle between British and Turkish forces at Ctesiphon, near Bagdad, which for a time looked like a check to the Mesopotamian expedition, is now reported to have been a success of first importance.

Information received today is that the retirement of the British after the capture of Ctesiphon occasioned by the lack of water, was only temporary. After the Turks withdrew in the direction of Bagdad, as announced officially yesterday, the British reoccupied their former positions, encountering no opposition, as they took possession of Ctesiphon, for the second time.

British troops at once began the work of clearing the Turkish trenches which were filled with dead or wounded soldiers. The British captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition, in addition to the 1300 prisoners previously reported.

Ctesiphon has been the scene of many tactical battles. The ancient city was besieged and plundered a dozen times by Greek and Roman invaders from the east before the Arabs finally sacked it.

FLAY MRS. PANKHURST

MEMBERS OF W.S.P.U. ALLEGED THAT LEADER VIRTUALLY WRECKED ORGANIZATION

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Many members of the Women's Social and Political Union have revolted against the leadership of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. A largely attended meeting under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ellen Penn Gaskell unanimously approved a long indictment against Mrs. Pankhurst.

In this indictment those who attended the meeting charged that in using the name of the Women's Social and Political Union for political purposes Mrs. Pankhurst was acting without authority, "the consent of the members not having been asked or obtained." They blame her for failing to utilize the organization for some form of national service during the war, which service is said to be in accordance with the desires of an overwhelming majority of the members, the disregard of which, coupled with Mrs. Pankhurst's complete control of the funds and local machinery, has been "virtually to disband and break up the W.S.P.U. as a national organization."

They accuse her of usurping authority and expelling members who differed from her "in order to stifle opposition to her will," resulting "in the removal from membership of almost all the women possessed of influence, capacity and independence of thought." They declare that when controlling funds she has shown callous indifference to the sufferings of destitute members.

Finally they call upon Mrs. Pankhurst to issue immediately a statement showing how the funds have been expended since the war began. They ask Christabel Pankhurst, her daughter, to resign or explain her continued absence from the country.

MANHOLE BLOWN INTO AIR

ARLINGTON, Nov. 27.—Miss Mary Oliver of 35 Fairmount street had a narrow escape from serious injury last night when a gas manhole cover on which she stood blew up at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Magnolia street. She was not injured, but received a severe fright.

Two other covers nearby were blown into the air at the same time from some undetermined cause.

The streets were fairly peopled at the time and the series of reports caused great excitement.

"That after backing his share of names of the Maine woods, Bob Manning returned home to be 'bagged' himself."

"That some of the 'know it all' politicians have not time enough to become naturalized so that they can vote."

"That the Bachelor girls gave one of their members a royal epiphany as she departed on her honeymoon Sunday evening."

"That the telephone operators were overworked Tuesday night answering calls while the votes were being counted."

"That Fire Chief Saunders made somebody else where said there are several buildings in Lowell that ought to be condemned."

"That if the water department will let the Cook wells the people of the city will let them keep their filtration plant."

"That the pessimist saw a strong resemblance between elder and a woman's disposition—sweet for a day or two and then, great Scott!"

"That the voters made a mistake in not supporting Col. Carmichael, but that was not the only one."

"That Col. Dooley of the U. S. Cartidge Co. says this will be the last winter campaign of the war, and the colonel is an old campaigner."

"That if we have as good a winter comparatively as we have had an autumn, only the coal dealer should worry and he wisely got in his heels ere now."

"That the Indians having been bumped by the navy on Thanksgiving day, took a crack at the Army today, and found quite a lot of 'preparedness' in both cases."

"That the down town merchants who have the stores washed early in the morning should see to it that the sidewalks are not left in an icy condition."

"That the telephone operator who was handling the calls from Dr. Mignault's headquarters Tuesday evening was the topic of favorable comment for her efficient work."

"That somebody stepped on the wire in the Highlands Thanksgiving afternoon, as a result of which many residents had to fall back upon gas for an hour or two."

"That this week was notable for the tying and untying of matrimonial knots, the former by clergymen and the latter by Justice Barry in the divorce court."

"That the pair of Russian high boots with the fur tops that walked through Merrimack square Wednesday under a pretty face attracted twice as much attention as did the face."

"That many a small boy who wanted to 'clean up' the remains of the turkey yesterday criticised the poor judgment of whoever selected the day before Friday for Thanksgiving day."

"That it takes a boy about as long to forget the grammar he learned in grammar school as it does for him to forget the mathematics he learned in high school and the Latin he learned in college."

"That the members of Hose Co. No. 10 of the local fire department were warmly congratulated for their heroic rescue of the boys who were on the point of drowning in the Merrimack river Tuesday."

"That the parking of automobiles at an angle of 45 degrees, according to the custom in some cities, makes it easy for the operator to get his car out without bumping into the car directly in front or rear of his."

"That conditions regarding the sale of liquor illegally must be ideal when the liquor inspectors can give their entire time to hanging around a polling booth on a day when all licensed places are closed under the law, a day on which the liquor officers are supposed to be busiest in their own line of work."

"That the precinct officers of precinct three of ward two feel highly honored over the special consideration given them by the police on Tuesday when they had Liquor Officers Murphy and Hessel as guests throughout the day with the big chief and Messenger Plinder as visitors during the afternoon."

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

TODAY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS ELEVATION TO COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Today marks the fourth anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal O'Connell to the College of Cardinals. On Nov. 27, 1911, he was created cardinal by Pope Pius X. Today the clergy and laity all over the archdiocese of Boston will rejoice. Ever since the cardinal's jurisdiction over the diocese, the welfare of the Catholic church has grown apace. Since before was it in such a flourishing condition.

Ordained in 1884

In brief, the history of Cardinal O'Connell's rise from a priest to a prince of the Roman Catholic church is as follows: He was born in Lowell, on Jan. 8, 1851. He was ordained a priest. He was consecrated bishop of Portland, Me., May 19, 1901. On Jan. 4, 1905, he was made assistant at the pontifical throne. On Feb. 8, 1906, he was named archbishop of Constantinople and coadjutor, with the right of succession to the archbishop of Boston. He succeeded

FOR ARMENIAN RELIEF

CONCERT IN AID OF SUFFERING ARMENIANS TO BE GIVEN AT ST. ANNE'S PARISH HALL

A concert in aid of the relief work for the suffering Armenians in Turkey will be given at Wednesday at St. Anne's parish hall in Kirk street. Those who will take part in the program are Arthur C. Spalding, Miss Mary G. Langan, Miss Rita B. Thompson, Mrs. William Dodge Haskell and others. The affair is being organized by Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Kludjian, prominent local Armenian leaders.

The results of the war have been particularly shocking in Armenia, where massacres have taken place, the people have been driven from their homes and suffering of an acute nature is now taking place. This condition of affairs has attracted the attention of America, and each of prominent the country over have taken a hand in an endeavor to alleviate the sufferings and to put a stop to further massacres.

It is to be hoped the residents of Lowell will help materially to this noble cause by attending the concert which is being prepared by well known people, who have the interest of the Armenians at heart. It is probable that Miss Rosa Potemkin of Boston, one of the foremost Armenian singers in America, will be present and sing a genuine Armenian song.

AMERICANS LEAVE SERBIA

CHALCIS, Greece, Nov. 26, via Paris, Nov. 27.—Several members of the American committee of Boston, who have been in Serbia, departed from Subotica today for Italy. PITTSBURGH STARS CONTRIBUTED MUCH TO THE SUCCESS OF TEAM

The remarkable showing of the football squad of the University of Pennsylvania during the past season under the tutelage of Glenn Warner, the former Carlisle coach, entitles it to more than the cursory consideration of the experts in selecting the season's champions and the mythical All American eleven. No fewer than four of the Pittsburgh players have shown enough to be included among the All American eleven, but it is unlikely that the experts will allow more than two of Warner's charges to "earn in." As these most likely to be selected for the honors are Fry and Sies, two of the most versatile athletes who have ever handled the pigskin, a word or two about their qualifications would not be amiss. Both have played nearly every position on the eleven and have played brilliantly wherever they were placed. Fry, who is 6 feet 10 inches in height and weighs 135 pounds, has played full-back, tackle, end and guard. He is a great kicker, is fast and has no superior in handling the ball on passes. When he is not playing the role of gridiron hero, Fry amuses himself at basketball and baseball, and he plays both remarkably well. Coe Sies is equally as well as his teammate and, besides, is a hero of the track field games, being a thrower, shot, putter and hurdler being his specialties. Coach Warner was fortunate in having two such stars on his squad for his first season with Pittsburgh, and that they are responsible to a large degree for the success of the Warner system and the record of the Pittsburgh squad goes without saying.

forces soon will become an army without a country, unless the French should defeat the Bulgarians, four divisions of whom are said to be hammering at the French lines. Reports from various sources say that Monastir has been surrounded by Bulgarians and that they may not wait for their Austro-German allies before entering the Macedonian capital.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Allies prepare to fall back on southern front before combined German and Bulgarian armies. Bulgarians retreat from Monastir front to attack Anglo-French. French army in Serbia captures town of Broussik, west of Kriwoiakt. Four Russian armies moved back south of Stenica river and near Mitrovitz, says Berlin. Severe British bombardment for four days destroys German entanglements and parapets on western front. French cannonade entire German front and blow up ammunition depot; mine excavation captured. British force Turks back to a town 10 miles from Bagdad; 1300 Ottoman prisoners taken in recent battle. Kitchener holds conferences with heads of Italian government and under-chief of general staff in Rome.

Resumption of Full Time Schedule of 55 Hours a Week

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 27.—Resumption next week of the full time schedule of 55 hours a week at the Nashua Manufacturing company and the Jackson Manufacturing company which reopened Monday after being closed for more than six weeks by a strike, was announced today. The officials of the two mills stated that three-fourths of the former operatives had returned to work.

A Lowell Interview

Mr. Sanborn Tells His Experience

The following brief account of an interview with a Lowell man over seven years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen. E. P. Sanborn, 43 Sheldon Street, Lowell, Mass., gave the following account of his experience on July 24th, 1908. He said: "My back was very weak and lame and I suffered constantly from dull, nagging back-aches and pains through my joints. I thought I could hardly sustain myself. My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were too frequent and burning in passage. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I got a box. They strengthened my back wonderfully and the lameness and backache disappeared. The kidney secretions became normal and regular in passage."

KEEPS DOAN'S ON HAND

AT ALL DEALERS. Don't start for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sanborn has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MOTORMAN'S QUICK STOP

AVERTED BAD ACCIDENT AT CORNER OF MERRIMACK AND TREMONT STREETS TODAY

A quick stop by Motorman W. E. Stone, prevented a bad accident at the corner of Merrimack and Tremont streets early this afternoon. A horse owned by A. Deanger who drove a second-hand furniture store in Merrimack street was being driven into Merrimack street from Tremont by a young man named Gould and as the animal turned the corner it slipped on the wet pavement and fell down the street in front of an oncoming taxi-drum car in charge of Motorman Stone. Gould applied the emergency brake and brought the car to a standstill just in time to avoid passing over the forward limbs of the animal which were stretched across the track. The horse received a cut on the head from contact with the pavement and the harness was broken. Outside of that, however, no damage was done.

FIRE IN DUMP

Fire broke out again this afternoon in the First street dump, causing a mild alarm at 11:45 o'clock. The engine from the Fourth street station responded and quenched the flames after a short battle.

MEXICAN SITUATION Continued

The troops scheduled to arrive today compose a provisional brigade made up from the Seventh and Twentieth regiments of United States infantry stationed at Douglas, Ariz. Herbert L. Cates, private in Company L, 12th Infantry, was the most seriously hurt of the two wounded American soldiers. He was shot in the abdomen. An operation performed last night was reported to have resulted satisfactorily, and it is believed that he has an even chance to recover. Arthur L. Saupé, private in the same company, was shot in the right foot.

Private Little Killed

The dead American soldier was Stephen Little, who also was a member of Company L. His home was at Fairmount, N. C.

Evidence that any attempt at looting in Nogales, Sonora, during the occupation of that town on the Mexican side of the border by Carranza forces would be summarily dealt with, was conveyed to the American side last night in reports that members of Gen. Alvaro Obregon's forces, who entered the town following the evacuation by Villa forces, had executed eight alleged looters.

Among the men executed were a Carranza captain and three Carranza soldiers.

40 Villa Soldiers Killed

Latest reports of the casualties among the Villa soldiers whose firing into American territory precipitated the battle of yesterday placed the total dead at more than 40.

Efforts to ascertain the exact location of the Villa forces who evacuated the Mexican town opposite here thus far have proved futile. It was generally believed, however, that they had escaped toward Hermosillo, where for several days Villa soldiers have been endeavoring to take the town from the Carranza troops.

At a conference last night with a representative of Gen. Obregon, Col. W. H. Sage, commanding the United States troops, explained that the firing exchanged between the American soldiers and the Carranza cavalrymen was due in a measure to the lack of information by him that Gen. Obregon's forces under Col. Cardenas were approaching so closely.

Villa Commander Shot American

"I had arranged with the Carranza consul to notify me when the Carranza troops arrived," Col. Sage said. "The wires were down last night and the consul failed to receive the expected information."

Col. Sage received an affidavit last night by Joshua Urbana, a freeman who worked with Edgar Bean, the American locomotive engineer, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., who was killed in Sonora early this week, which asserts that the Villa commander, Beltrán, was killed by his own hand. According to the affidavit, the shooting took place when the locomotive train was driving jumped the track after leaving Cananea where the Villa men had looted a bank and the properties of the Cananea Consolidated Copper Co.

TO OPEN UP RAILROAD

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 27.—Through passenger service from Washington to Mexico City by way of the Texas, New Orleans and Texas, will be established in a few days. It was announced after a conference of Southern Pacific and International and Great Northern railroad officials with Alberto Paul, director general of the National railways of Mexico.

The Southern Pacific system is to supply at once 5000 freight cars, 50 passenger cars and other equipment until such time as the Mexican railroads can be supplied with their own equipment, negotiations for which are now under way with American builders.

BRITISH SUCCESS CONFIRMED

LONDON, Nov. 27.—An official statement received today from Constantinople confirms the British report that after the recent battle in Mesopotamia the Turks retired. The statement follows: "On the Irak front, on Nov. 22 and 23, north of Koyun and on the Tigris, west of Kutulmarda, the enemy, under the protection of ten war vessels, attacked our advanced positions with new reinforcements. Our advanced troops inflicted on the enemy very considerable losses in dead and withdrew to their main positions. The enemy attempted a further advance, but failed. Our troops made a counter attack and captured one machine gun, two ammunition cars and some prisoners. At the same place we captured a fourth enemy aeroplane."

RUSSIAN REPORT DENIED

BERLIN, Nov. 27. (By wireless to Sayville).—Reports from Vienna say that the Russian announcement of the capture of Czartorysk are untrue, says the Overseas News agency. "Czartorysk has been burned to the ground by Russian patrols which attempted to cross the Stry river and were repulsed and there are no Russian forces on the west bank."

MORE ALLIED TROOPS LAND

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Tross despatches from Athens say that the French and British forces landed at Salonika have now attained important proportions. The Patriotic of Athens says their number at 125,000. These forces are abundantly supplied with arms and ammunition.

Some 40,000 or 45,000 more men are said to be on the way to Salonika at which port 4000 troops are debarking each day.

BOMB PLOTTERS

Daeche, Alleged Conspirator, Out on $25,000 Bail

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Paul Daeche, one of the five men whose names are linked with that of Robert Fay, self-styled German officer, in the alleged manufacture of bombs to destroy mail and ships, today left the Jersey City jail where he has been lodged since his arrest and will be at liberty till next Tuesday. A surety company of this city furnished the $25,000 bond required for his appearance then in proceedings looking to his extradition here. Daeche is the third of the alleged conspirators to obtain his liberty under $25,000 bonds. The other three, including Fay, are locked up in the Tombs here to await trial on the government's charge of conspiracy, in which all six are named.

RIDICULOUS INVENTION

BERLIN DENIES SINKING OF LUSTITAX PLANNED BY GERMANS IN UNITED STATES

BERLIN, Nov. 27. (By wireless to Sayville).—The Overseas News agency says: "According to cablegrams from Washington, as published in England, it has now been proved that the sinking of the Lusitania was planned by Germans in the United States; that Count von Bernstorff reported the proposal to Berlin and that the German foreign office expressly approved the plan. 'These stories are ridiculous inventions, the object of which is very easy to perceive. Therefore, every sensible person here expects the whole world will have sufficient common sense to value such reports at their true merit.'"

WAS CHASED BY CRUISER

AMERICAN STEAMER ZEALANDIA, RECENTLY SEIZED, ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The American steamer Zealandia, which recently was seized and held by a German cruiser, arrived here today and reported having been pursued last night by an unknown cruiser off the New Jersey coast.

Capt. Devanier said that at 11:30 o'clock last night when he was between Brigantine shoals and Tucker's beach a cruiser bore down on him and signalled with the Morse code. The night was unusually hazy and the Zealandia ran inside the three-mile limit and thus escaped the cruiser. The captain said the cruiser was in sight for half an hour and then disappeared in the fog.

The Zealandia had on board today the original cargo of resin which was loaded at Pensacola, Fla., before the vessel sailed for Progresso. The Zealandia was at Progresso 17 days, sailing from there Nov. 20, for New York. Capt. Devanier was formerly in the West Indian service of the Atlas-Atlantic-American line. The crew are almost all Germans, it was said. The vessel is owned by the Fiske Trading Co. of New York.

TURKS CLAIM SUCCESS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27. via London.—An announcement from the Turkish war office today says that a large number of soldiers of the allied forces have been killed in recent fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula. The statement follows: "On the Dardanelles front near Anafarta and At Burnu, our artillery destroyed the machine guns of the enemy as well as gun positions. Bomb throwers killed a great number of soldiers of the enemy who were sheltered near the landing place at Arburnu. 'Near Anafarta a gun of large calibre which had been directed against our position at Kiretche Tepe was put out of action. The gunners were killed.'"

HOLY WAR SPREADING

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(By wireless to Sayville).—According to a Constantinople despatch, says the Overseas News agency today, the Turkish government has opened a new foreign department, the Indo-Egyptian section. "Commenting on this, Berlin newspapers say the action taken is a consequence of the holy war spreading over the Mohammedan world, gaining especial headway in India and Egypt, where British rule, they point out, has been unwillingly endured for decades."

FRENCH WAR REPORT

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The French war office this afternoon issued a report on the progress of hostilities, reading as follows: "There was nothing to report last night."

"Yesterday, between Forges and Bethancourt, west of the river Meuse, the enemy projected sufficing gas, but without result. There was no accompanying infantry attack."

"A German aeroplane yesterday fell into the river Aisne a little east of Berry-au-Bac. The aviators were successful in saving themselves by swimming. The machine was destroyed by our shells."

Mr. and Mrs. John Pero of Springfield, formerly of Lowell, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Springfield, Thanksgiving day. Four generations of the family were present. Mr. Pero was born in Chelmsford, Can., Sept. 30, 1835. He learned the trade of an iron moulder in Newton Upper Falls and then worked successfully in Chelmsford, Lowell and Worcester. In 1874 he went to Indian Orchard to take charge of the iron foundry of the Chapman Valve Co. He retired in 1906. Mrs. Pero was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Waltham to live in 1845. She met Mr. Pero there and they were married in Waltham. Mr. and Mrs. Pero have nine children living.

SEN. MARCHAND'S BILL

It Provides for State Appropriation for First St. Boulevard—Col. Sohler's Visit

Senator Marchand on the opening of the general court will introduce a bill providing for a state appropriation for the first street boulevard along the river bank from Indian Orchard. It is a link of the state highway from New Hampshire to the sea and is but right that the state should complete the road. The county may bear the usual portion of the expense for rough grading. This road should be laid out and completed next year. The river boulevard at the Lawrence end has been completed by the state and the county jointly. The section at the Lowell end should be done in a similar way. Lawrence in this respect is ahead of us as usual. The city of Lowell does not get its fair share of state and county funds for public highways.

Highway Officials Here

The visit of Col. Sohler to this city yesterday, may indicate an intention to do tardy justice to our city. State and county officials will get together in a few days for a conference concerning the first street problem in this city. Col. W. D. Sohler, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway commission, and Chief Engineer Pillsbury were in Lowell yesterday and discussed road matters affecting Lowell. Col. Sohler said he hopes to complete the highway down the river to Lawrence next year by surfacing the gap in the macadam highway from a point near the artillery armory to the new road through Glen Forest.

It was further stated that the Gosham street road, which is now in process of development in East Chelmsford, will be pushed along with the as-istance of the town of Billerica and the county. The mile of concrete highway just built from the Lowell line in East Chelmsford in Gorham street, must remain closed for some time in order to give the surface time to harden properly. The towns of Andover and Tewksbury are to be asked to co-operate with the state and with Essex and Middlesex counties in reconstructing the Andover street route by way of Haggitt's pond to Frye Village in Andover. The stretch of highway between Reading and Wilmington will be nearly completed this next year. The Lowell-Worcester route is under consideration by the state. It is probable that this route will be via Chelmsford Centre. Work is going on between Chelmsford Centre and Littleton and between Harvard and Still River and in Lancaster.

ONE DAY OFF IN THREE

MAYOR CURLEY OF BOSTON WOULD LIGHTEN FIREMEN'S LOT—RULE WOULD NOT INCREASE EXPENSES

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Mayor Curley is of the opinion that Boston firemen should have one day off in three, and he believes this rule can be adopted without impairing the efficiency of the service or increasing the operating expenses of the department, because of the motorization of the department. The mayor said last night that he believes the plan can be put in operation here if it can be done in Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland and other cities where it has been in force for some time. If it can be adopted here, it is believed it may ultimately lead to 12-hour daily shifts. The mayor, last night, sent a letter to Commissioner Grady, requesting him to make a study of the "one-in-three" lay-off and report its operations in other cities. "While the present system of one day in five," the mayor writes, "is a pioneer grade, which, by the way, was adopted largely through my personal efforts, is a great advance over the former system of one day in eight. It must be apparent that the continuing character of the work of the men in the fire service and the exacting nature of the same, particularly in the downtown sections of our city, cannot be other than injurious both mentally and bodily to the men in the service."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

This afternoon and tonight will be the last chances for Lowell theatre patrons to see "The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' brilliant dramatic and comedy success which has been packing big crowds into the Opera House all the week. There are still some good seats left for tonight's performance which should be secured early to avoid any chance for disappointment.

Sunday afternoon and night at the Opera House a gala vaudeville and picture program will be offered with five headline acts and as many reels of the latest and best pictures. The American eaves known as "Under Cover," a class act, offering a novelty, the like of which has never been seen on any vaudeville stage, is one of the features. It is a big act, which has scored tremendous success in all the big cities. The University Trio, two boys and a girl, will offer a singing act that will cause the house to give them many encores. A series of songs and dances will be given at the Academy of Music in Haverhill and the bit of the show, singing seven of the newest song hits. Kelley and Berg in a singing and talking act; Bob and Berta, Mitchell, a clever duo, a class act, offering a novelty, the like of which has never been seen on any vaudeville stage, is one of the features. The English "chapple," are the other acts on the bill and all are top notch. The picture program will include some of the latest hits.

See this big Sunday show. It is the best of the season and if you miss it you will lose one of the best vaudeville shows in many seasons.

All next week, starting with a special matinee on Monday, the Emerson Players will present the most famous dramatic success that the world has ever known, "Under Cover," which broke all records for long runs in New York and Chicago, and which ran for five solid months at the Plymouth theatre in Boston to capacity audiences. This is one of the greatest plays ever written, and the stage has ever known, and in offering it at popular prices the Sites-Emerson company has broken all records for paying high royalties and showing their determination to give the theatre patrons of Lowell the best at all times.

"Under Cover" is a play with a wonderful punch. When originally produced, it caused a furor throughout the country, and the critics everywhere pronounced it "more appealing and interesting than 'Within the Law'." It is a great play, the author, Roy Cooper Nesque, weaving around the main story a series of sub-plots that are intensely interesting. "Under Cover" is also brimming over in comedy and the play will prove the most delightful entertainment ever offered.

The attraction is positively limited to one week, previous contracts making it impossible to hold the play any longer. On account of the limited engagement, patrons are advised to make reservations early. As many who can, should arrange to come early in the week and leave the latter part of the week. The Monday and Tuesday performances are just as smooth and finished as the closing performances. Coming early will help others the latter part of the week and who are unable to see the play before then.

Monday afternoon, souvenir boxes of chocolates will be given to every lady who attends. Monday evening, autographed photos of Joseph Crehan will be given every patron. Secure seats now. Phone 261.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Most of the cream of the present week's bill will be on hand at the special concert to be given at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening. Monday evening, the acts which have caused so much favorable comment will be represented, and, in addition, there will be a singer brought on from New York, Harry Grant & Co., who have been presenting "The Luck of a Tober," will give a series of song numbers, and Rawls & Von Kautman will give some bright patter. Allie White, the girl who offers a special program for the day and the Bennington sisters will bring a new lot of songs. Barry and Lechard will offer something new, entertaining, and Frank Garfield will give new songs and some of his imitations. There will be, of course, brand new vaudeville acts, with one special three-part number, which will be a big hit, full three hours in length and excellent quality.

One of the most musical and most effective of musical acts will be the one which head the show at this theatre, the next week. The Seven Colonial Belles will give the act. These seven young women derive their titles from costumes which they wear and also from the general surroundings. The Colonial mansion, the room of an old time. The period is 1776, and there have gathered seven of the neighborhood. They are all excellent musicians. The act consists of six instrumentalists and one vocal soloist. The program for the greater part, is composed of high class selections, the whole forming a musical assemblage above the ordinary, presented in an artistic and picturesque manner. Miss Dorothy Shannon, the pianist, is the producer of the act, and the ideas in the costumes, scenic equipment and in the building of a program are hers. The instrumentalists are a pianist, a flutist, a cellist and three violinists. There ought to be the renditions of some of the better known numbers. So act exactly of its kind has been produced locally for general entertainment. A preponderance of brass among the instruments played. In this instance they are all strings, with the exception of one piece of wood.

Tower and Durrell, a man and a woman, will offer a rather different kind of funny act. Miss Durrell is frequently termed "the girl with the silver punch," and there's a real reason for it. While the two do sing and dance and patter about times in general, the act is a well-planned and well-performed, one, essentially. Possibly this show is so entirely rehearsed that it has all the appearance of being the real thing, without possessing the spontaneity to it. But if that's the case, then audiences are getting fooled, for every one will make an admission that Miss Durrell is handling her partner the real deal of real punches. That isn't all the two have, for they are rated as genuinely funny people.

"Who Was to Blame?" is the title of a delightful little play to be given by Elsie Williams & Co. It is a thoroughly wholesome domestic comedy, which is a rare thing in the theatre. It is portrayed in an inimitable manner, and, like all pretty comedies, it has a splendid ending. George W. Cooper and Charles Smith will appear in a musical number called "The Bell and the Bells," and Watson and Little will give a skit called "A Millionaire's Dream." O'Connell is a novelty, a comedian and a dancer, and a roller skater. In addition to these there is the latest series of new

"Bell-Wether—to the Rubber Flock"

THAT'S what the Insider called us.

He knew that we were Daddy to practically all the leading brands of Tires that now compete with us.

He knew that most of these competing Brands were born in the B. F. Goodrich Co. shops, — leaving behind, when they moved, all the Experience and Research that the production of so many different Tires had developed and accumulated.

HE knew that the B. F. Goodrich Co. had discarded forms of Fabric-Cord, or (Thread-Fabric) Tires now being marketed as "Cord" Tires by others, long before it acquired the sole Patent Rights (for America) on the original and only genuine "Cord" Silvertown Tire.

He knew that many years ago when we first put out the original and only "Cord" Tire, which is the "Silvertown," witherwithdrew it from the Market solely because it had not, as then made, Mileage enough for GOODRICH standards of Value.

This, although it was, even then, the fastest and most power-conserving Tire in the world.

HE knew that practically every great advance made in Rubber manufacturing, during the past 20 years, had its inception in the Research Dept. of the B. F. Goodrich Co.

So, — He was not at all surprised when he heard that "The Bell-Wether of the Rubber-Flock" had again set the pace with the new Black-Tread now being used on Goodrich Fabric Tires, as well as on Silvertown Tires.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Edna Goodrich will be seen today in the leading role of the five-act Paramount feature, "Armstrong's Wife," at the Merrimack Square theatre for the last time. This marks Miss Goodrich's debut in motion pictures and she shows clearly by her stellar acting that she is a born screen star. The role which Miss Goodrich animates in this play is strongly emotional and is, therefore, one which suits her. She appears as a young girl who is tricked into a false marriage by a professional gambler and elopes with him to the city, leaving her broken-hearted lover, who departs for the Canadian northwest. The action of the play leads to a great climax when the gambler, her former sweetheart, and himself meet in a deserted cabin and she threatens to kill herself if the gambler shoots her champion. The killing of the crook by the police who prevent a further escape gives the triangular problem and the girl and her real lover are free to walk together unimpeded down the path of life. This heart-rending romance which will also be shown today for the last time is a scream, every scene is bubbling over with laughter. The acting is most enlightening, picture many interesting scenes about Buenos Ayres. Mary Pickford will be seen tomorrow only in a return engagement. A girl who did not see her in this triumph before, and many who did see her will be eager to see her again. Remember she will appear only tomorrow at the continuous Sunday concert. Besides this five-act attraction seven other reels of pictures will be shown.

"His Wife," a vital human drama in five sensational acts, will be the attraction at the Owl today. The new emotional star, Geraldine O'Brien, is featured in this heart-rending romance which tells the tragic story of a husband's heroic sacrifice for a worthless brother. Besides this great Mutual masterpiece many other excellent photo plays will also be presented.

FIRE ON BRITISH SHIP

INVESTIGATIONS TO ASCERTAIN CAUSE OF BLAZE ON STEAMSHIP BARKDALE

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 27.—An inquiry has been begun by the government to ascertain the cause of the fire on board the British steamship Barkdale, which arrived here yesterday from New York with a cargo of horses and cotton. The Barkdale was several days out when smoke was observed emerging from No. 4 hold. The hatches were closed and the fire made worse during the remainder of the voyage. On arrival here the hold was opened and flooded. Only 100 bales of cotton were destroyed.

EVADED PATROL BOATS

STEAMER WHICH FLED WILL NOT BE SUPPLIED WITH COAL AS REQUESTED

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The steamer Robert M. Thompson, which evaded the British patrol boats by running to the north of Iceland, will not be supplied with 150 tons of coal as requested, says a Reuter dispatch from Bergen, Norway. The authorities consider it strange that a steamer ostensibly bound for Archangel should have proceeded in the direction taken by the Thompson. The vessel's deck cargo consisted chiefly of motor cars.

The Robert M. Thompson sailed from New York Nov. 2 for Archangel. She was detained at Deal in April by the British authorities pending inquiries regarding the consignees of her cargo.

MR. REDMOND PROTESTS

Tells Parliament That the Irish Regiments Get No Credit for Their Valor

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Correspondence)

The bitter cry against the censorship heard from the front is that neither regiments nor individuals are allowed to gain any recognition or publicity for unusual exploits. This is one of the handicaps a democracy meets in trying to conduct war on the most modern lines of secrecy.

The Japanese army in the war against Russia was the pioneer in this policy. The Japanese carried their attempts to keep the Russians in the dark so far that none of the soldiers have any regimental marks on their uniforms.

Very few officers or enlisted men have been made popular heroes through this war, and no regiments stand out conspicuously in the public eye, although officers say that several of them have as much credit to their credit as equaling the charge of the Light Brigade of Balaklava. So far as the regiments of the old army, "the Little Contemptibles," are concerned, more than a majority of their members have figured in the casualty lists months ago.

"How Could it Help the Enemy?"

John Redmond, nationalist leader, cited one of the grievances of Ireland in the debate which followed Premier Asquith's speech on Nov. 2. He said: "How could it bring help to the enemy to let the people of Ireland, of Scotland, of England, and of Wales know what their own regiments are doing?" He said that the landing at Sedul Bahr in April, which was the most difficult operation of the battle, was carried out by the Dublin Fusiliers and the Munster Fusiliers, but that Ireland had no knowledge of their work except in letters from the few surviving officers.

He continued: "That kind of thing is going on all over Ireland. One of the Dublin Fusiliers was known as 'the Pals.' It was made up of well-educated young men from the universities, public schools and the professions. They were all practically annihilated. I know scores of families in Dublin who are in terrible anguish over the death of their children. I have seen numbers of those lads."

Referring to the landing at Suvla enrolled in the law department.

Bay. Mr. Redmond said: "I have received communications relating to the 10th (Irish) Division, not from men in the ranks or subalterns, but from officers of high position, which I dare not read to the house. I have felt it my duty to send them to the war office and the prime minister."

"Not One Word of Recognition"

"Sir Ian Hamilton is back here now, and some day these things will have to be inquired into, and when they are known I think it will be found that never in your military history have troops been subjected to such horrible sufferings, or have shown such gallantry as the 10th Division, come named by Sir Bryan Mahon. Yet not one word of recognition has been written about them."

Mr. Redmond dealt particularly with the war office censorship over official reports in this speech. In the earlier months of the war the government had an official "eye-witness" in the field to fill the void caused by the prohibition of war correspondents, and to attempt to satisfy the public demand for descriptions of the work of the British army. His messages, however, were robbed of nine-tenths of their possible interest by the absence of the names of organizations and individuals.

Since a limited number of British correspondents have been permitted at army headquarters during the past season, the official "eye-witness" has been withdrawn, but the newspaper men are under the same restrictions of writing mostly in generalities.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

THE OTHER LOWELL

The recent great exposition in this city proved beyond question that Lowell is no longer a mill city in the limited sense of the word. We still have our great mills and we are proud of them, but our thousands of workers are not necessarily limited to the mills for a means of livelihood. Lowell is a great industrial city filled with hundreds of prosperous and growing business enterprises, and of this booming industrial city with its prosperous population we now know more than before the recent exposition.

There is another side to Lowell which is also getting a special emphasis through the exhibition of paintings, sketches, sculpture, etc., at the Whistler house—Lowell the esthetic, the artistic, the cultured. In the ordinary references to Lowell whether in books, public addresses, or historical essays, a great deal is said about the early pioneers, the waterway system, the larger mills and factories, but little is said of Lowell's vast contribution to American culture.

In its short span of existence—for it is as yet a child among cities—Lowell has produced many writers of note, great churchmen, brilliant lecturers and essayists, celebrated inventors, painters, and representatives of the dreamers and thinkers who leave their influence on their time. The crowded bookcase in the board of trade booth at the exposition was a revelation to many of our own people, and a list of Lowell's leaders of culture would find immediate recognition far outside New England limits.

The short local stay of the great Whistler has given us an opportunity that we have not yet made the most of, for were it properly emphasized it would carry the name of Lowell into every corner of the world of art that is permeated with the personality and influence of the many-sided master. He is not particularly proud of his Lowell origin, they say, but we have his birthplace and in the way of cities that have produced all famous men, it is for us to make his name an asset in our esthetic development. Some day, it is to be hoped, we will have the replica of the statue by Rodin which is sidetracked somewhere in the land of Promise.

The exhibition of paintings and sketches at the Whistler house proves that Lowell has produced many really great artists in recent years and it also proves that there is a live interest in things artistic among our people. In the rush of the practical work-day world we may occasionally lose sight of the fact, but working quietly amongst us are many young men and young women whose names will sooner or later rank high in the ranks of authors, painters, sculptors and representatives of all the higher arts. In this city of opportunity there is also an opportunity for culture, and any skeptic must see the light after visiting the very noteworthy exhibits of art in the home where Whistler saw the light.

FORD'S PEACE PLANS

Henry Ford, whose personality and whose car has added considerably to the comfort and the gaiety of nations, has a new idea. To be sure he has several new ideas, many of which are not yet patented, but this idea is the king of them all. He has a plan to stop the war in Europe by chartering a peace ship which will carry a large freight of peace talkers and theorists to the Hague, provided it does not strike a mine in transit. William Jennings Bryan is invited together with ex-President Taft and every governor in the Union. Many prominent men and women have accepted the invitation and few ships since the famous voyages of Ulysses have prepared to sail under more momentous circumstances. Prominent men in all of the belligerent nations have been invited to attend the conference and there will surely be considerable talk whatever may be said of the prospect of results.

In contrast with the beautifully theoretic plans of Mr. Henry Ford and his supporters and guests, President Wilson refuses to take part in any conference for the ending of the war, declaring that he considers such action premature. As the head of the American nation his word would carry far more weight than that of any migratory peace evangelists, and he is surely as desirous of a just peace as any man in the neutral world. Pope Benedict also has often expressed touching thoughts in favor of peace among the warring nations, but he, too, has refrained from definite action. With these facts in mind, one cannot say very enthusiastically of the coming mission to the Hague where a few months ago some leading women of all nations met in a like conference and voted resolutions which have been drowned out by the cannon.

Still, in all fairness it must be admitted that the ideal of the peace messengers is a wonderful one, and the episode of the steamer Oscar II will fill an inspiring paragraph in history. The unfortunate part of it is that its leaders speak, and will continue for some time to speak, to nations that are not ready to discuss peace. Germany is popularly supposed to favor peace, but it is a peace that the allies cannot and will not accept. No matter how regrettable the fact, the nations at war are more interested just now in the sound of their guns than they are in any rhetorical appeals from the Hague or the Ford factory.

FASHION IS QUEEN

A fanciful tale and inspiring withal is that of the great Berlin meeting called to promote the discarding of foreign fashions by patriotic German women and the substitution thereof of a new German style which should be beautiful in the German way while being free from fashionable frills. The story goes that the patriotic German women cheered the speakers and applauded the modes of the new dress and that all went well until some live models with new Parisian gowns made their appearance. Thereupon, patriotism took a slump and the frilly frilly gowns got the vote to the discomfiture of the crown princess and all the reformers. The Kaiser was king but fashion was queen, and in the world of women the queen has the greater influence. Now, if one may be pardoned for being flippant in anything relating to the war, why wouldn't it be a good idea for Mr. Bryan to agitate a great world court of women to decide international questions, with a central court of all the leading designers and costumers of the nations. When war should be imminent, all these designers and artists might with advantage evolve some lovely lacey thing that would take the minds of the women off affairs of state and turn them to affairs of the boudoir. Just as simple as hooking a Parisian gown—how say you?

TO INCREASE TAXES

All the country calls for preparedness, but preparedness will come high. Yet, since we must have it we must get ready to pay for it, and discussion of ways and means is timely. Some leading members of the administration are in favor of a new bond issue to cover the increased expenses, but Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury, has a different scheme. He suggests the retention of the war tax, made imperative by the expenses of the war in its indirect influence on the country, and the keeping of the duty on sugar. He also favors an extension of the scope of the income tax so that a far greater number will be affected by the income tax law. Neither the war tax nor the reduction of income tax exemptions will prove popular, since anything that would increase taxes is never popular, but the country is face to face with the fact that we must increase our defenses and therefore we must increase our revenues in proportion. Preparedness is highly attractive when advocated on the stump, but when a tax increase is debated in congress, preparedness will take on another aspect. Secretary McAdoo evidently believes it better to increase old burdens than to add entirely new ones to those the people will be forced to carry as a sequel to the world war.

'T WAS SOME FUNERAL

The L.W.W. sympathizers with the unfortunate Joseph Hillstrom who suffered the legal penalty for murder a few days ago in Utah, do not believe in masquerading in false colors, and so they revealed their true colors—or color—at his sensational funeral. This color was red, very red, and it was shown not only in the banners but in the inscription: "In Memoriam, Joe Hill. We never forget. Murdered by the authorities of the state of Utah, Nov. 19, 1915." There were no prayers and no hymns but there were songs, sung right lustily. Eight anarchists carried the coffin and there were speeches by William D. Haywood, Jim Larkin and others. Really it is hard to reconcile this with our great American democracy, but such it was right enough. A scene from the undercurrents of European politics was acted in Chicago with all America looking on, and it was acted without recourse to secrecy. Compared to this the "No God, no Country" of Lawrence was mild, but if the Chicago disgrace has an effect like that of Lawrence, it will be better for the future of the country. However we may feel about it, it was surely "some funeral," as the man in the street would say.

ON SECOND THOUGHT

Greece has thought it all over and has decided that discretion is the better part of valor. London declares that cordial relations now exist between the allies and the Greek government and no further trouble is anticipated. Greece is not expected to take up arms against the central powers, but it will not take positive action against the English and French, realizing that neutrality, with a leaning towards the allies, is the only sensible national policy when the allies have such a power over the economic and political future of the country. The troops who land at Saloniki will not be molested going or coming, and the allies have made a great gain in diplomacy. Rumania also is showing a tendency to break with Germany and the Balkan situation is brighter as seen by the war departments of the allies. Greece has evidently put on her thinking cap, to the disadvantage of the Teutonic powers.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

There is only one way to do the Christmas shopping early, and that is to begin now. It is not at all too early to begin for Christmas is not a full month of shopping days away. By shopping now one avoids the rush and incidentally the fancy prices that will soon appear on the show slips. Year after year press and public discussion early shopping and just as surely most shoppers leave it to the other one and decide that it does not refer specifically to them. Still more truly does this advice refer to Christmas mailings. Packages for foreign destinations and money orders will be delayed in transit, and those who would take precautions to get their presents to their families or friends must mail them earlier than usual.

SEEN AND HEARD

The Philadelphia Record says the expansion of business refuses to wait till the republicans can make a new tariff.

Kindly Consideration

"What is your objection to me for a son-in-law?" asked the energetic young man.
"I don't object to you," replied Mr. Cummins, "if I seem kind of different when you're around, it's because I like you. I'm just wondering how it's going to be when mother and the girl quit welcoming you as a distinguished visitor and begin to treat you like one of the family."—Washington Star.

But Somebody May Get It

An Englishman serving his country as attaché to the British embassy at Washington, says that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has more than once been sought out by persons desirous of consulting him about thefts.
"To one such woman, Sir Arthur good-naturedly said, 'My detective powers are quite at your service.'"
"Frequent and mysterious thefts," said the woman, "have been occurring at my house for a long time. There disappeared last week a motor horn, a broom, a box of golf balls, a left-hand boot, a dictionary and a half-dozen tin plates."
"The case is perfectly clear," said Sir Arthur, "you keep a goat."—Exchange.

His Last Moments

The dangers of travel by sea at this time have played havoc with the nerves of timid passengers.
Early one morning recently there was considerable commotion on the decks of a coastwise vessel plying between Savannah and Baltimore, when a scantly clad man hurried from the fore-cabin and ran toward the upper deck.
"On the way he ran into the captain of the vessel."
"What's the matter, captain?" he managed to gasp. "Have we been torpedoed?"
"Calm yourself, my dear sir, and be prepared for the worst," answered the official.
"Oh, don't tell me we are going down!" pleaded the other. "Quick, where are the life preservers?"
"They wouldn't be of any use at this stage," explained the captain.
"Too late!" quavered the despairing passenger.
"Yes," said the captain, very solemnly. "We've done all we can. You'll have to look out for yourself now. You see."

Help is what heaven gives to those who help themselves.

Help is also the jocosse name we give to the way we pay wages to.

Or salaries.

Some of them help.

But not all, nay, nay, Crinoline!

A safer term in a good many cases would be "hired hindrance."

If you hire a man to work among the shrubbery, you have to stand over him with a boot-hook and grab him by the seat of the pants every time he lifts his two-ton foot to set it down on a flower-bed or a barberry bush he has just set out.

A but in a china shop is a presiding juggler and equilibrist and a master-juggler, compared with the average man who wants to work in your glass case.

He will transfer two bushes a day on an average, if you hurry him, and will destroy twice that much during the agonizing process.

A woman who never did anything but laundry in her life will leave the wrong clothes hanging with the right ones, will starch your handkerchiefs so you can shave with them, and leave your shirt-cuffs so delectable-looking you could weep with them, and probably die.

The new kitchen and first-floor girl will wait till just before you are ready to use the O'Pine oil floor-wiper on the bedroom stairs, and will then hurriedly wash it and hang it out to dry in a shady place.

She will pick out the day you have money for rent, and scrub the kitchen floor at 11:30.

If you go away leaving the garden man to dig a hole 12 inches deep, all sorts of various concoctions so as to make a roach of it, he will dig half way to China before you get back to him, and he'll be unable to recall what his mental operations, if any, while doing.

Somebody has truly said: "The world's jobs are crowded." Yes, but what with?—Exchange.

Our Own Dialects—Dialect

Once there was a little boy whose name was Postmark Wheeze, and every Friday afternoon he had to speak a peeze.

So many poems thus he learned That soon he had a store Of recitations in his head And still kept learning more.

Now this is what happened: He was called upon one week And totally forgot the piece He was about to speak.

His brain he nudged, But not a word remained within his head, And so he spoke at random. And this is what he said:

My beautiful, my beautiful, Who standest proudly by, It was the schooner Hesperus, The breaking waves dashed high.

Why is the forum crowded? What means this stir in Rome? Under a spreading chestnut tree There's no place like home.

When Freedom from her mountain height Cried "twinkle, twinkle, little star," Shoot, if you must, this old gray head, King Henry of Navarre.

If you're waking, call me early. To be or not to be, Curfew must not ring tonight, Oh, woodman, spare that tree.

Charge, Chester, charge! On! Stanley, on! And who will be clever, The boy stood on the burning deck, But I go on forever.

BIG BANKING SYNDICATE

BOSTON AND NEW YORK BANKERS TO FINANCE ST. LOUIS & SAN FRANCISCO RAILROAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A banking syndicate consisting of J. & W. Seligman & Co., Speyer & Co., and the Guaranty Trust company of this city, together with Lee Higginson & Co. of Boston, is being formed for $25,000,000 to provide the cash requirements of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad in its plan for reorganization. Under the plan as contemplated fixed charges will be reduced from $14,835,000 to a little more than $9,000,000. All the stock to be issued under the reorganization will be placed in the hands of a voting trust for five years, the trustees including Frederick Strauss, James Speyer, Charles H. Sablin and Seward Prosser of this city and August J. Wade of St. Louis, and each is to be provided with the equipment trust certificates maturing prior to July 1, 1917, as well as other obligations, including $3,000,000 of receivers' certificates due next January.

REAL ESTATE MATTERS

Building Operations Less Active—Real Estate Market Brisk—Notes of the Trade

The proposed improvement of the Naumkeag property, at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, is at a standstill at the present time, owing to the failure of the several owners to agree on plans. It was expected that the work of making alterations would be pushed ahead rapidly and several of the tenants secured new quarters. According to what could be learned from those who are in a position to know, little or nothing in the way of improvement will be done until the spring.

The past couple of weeks has resulted in Memorial hall showing a decided improvement, and before the middle of December it is expected that the roof will be completed. The frame work of the roof is practically completed and within a week's time it is expected that the dormer windows will have been installed.

Building operations, generally, throughout the city are rather quiet at the present as they always are at this time of the year. Very little new work is being commenced, contractors being busily engaged in finishing up work on hand, especially enclosing buildings under the course of construction so that in the event of severe cold or stormy weather the interior work may be carried on.

Olive Clement has secured a permit from the city to enlarge his department store to include a new building at 15 Alken avenue. The present building is to be moved and an addition made to the same.

A permit has been granted to Kalle Hornbork to erect a two apartment house at 62-64 A street. The building will have a frontage of 24 feet and extend back 48 feet. It will be two and one-half stories high and each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. The estimate cost is $3700.

Louis H. Ginsburg is improving his home at 63 Royal street. Improvements are also being made by Patrick J. Reynolds in his property at 135 Newhall street and William F. Thomas at 64 Grove street.

Alonso G. Bennett, lessee of the Abner Marshall estate, has been granted a permit by the city and buildings department for the erection of a garage at 38 Riverside street.

Margaret W. Merrill is making improvements in her property at 591 Market street. Alterations are being made to the rear and side of the building in order to change the property into four tenements of three and four rooms on the second floor, one three room tenement in the rear and a new store.

Sidney M. and Sarah M. Whitman have been granted a permit to make alterations and improvements to their property at 52 Methuen street.

SIR EDWARD VINDICATED

PARIS PAPER EXPOSES GERMAN ATTEMPT TO BLAME ENGLAND FOR THE WAR

The Figaro, a leading paper of Paris has the following reply to Germany's latest attempt to fasten responsibility for the war upon England:

The "Figaro" dealing with the report of Prince Lichnowsky, says there is no need to say that there is not a word in this report which is not a lie. Sir Edward Grey, whom the Germans today accuse of incredible duplicity, is the same minister whom they have not ceased to pursue with their hate, and to accuse of having voluntarily prepared for the war and impelled the two other powers of the entente to take part in it, but the Germans do not confine themselves to a mere contradiction, and today they attribute to the eminent British minister a prevarication of which only a representative of the Kaiser could be capable. They have not hesitated to call in the help of Prince Lichnowsky, who, like a good German, at once dipped his pen in the ink to write a false report, which goes to join all the other "orgasms" which Bethmann-Hollweg pretends so carefully. It is a mere fact in the water. As a matter of fact the "attitude" of Great Britain for a year past, and especially that of Sir Edward Grey, have repelled in advance to Prince Lichnowsky's fabrication, and since its publication in the "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung," there is only one more lie to add to the collection already so numerous, at the head of which is written the name of William II.

GOV. WALSH TO SPEAK

FIRST NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF SECURITY LEAGUE OPENS AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The National Security league which opened its first national conference here today, is prepared to make demands for full publicity for the technical recommendations of army and navy experts on problems of national defense. It was announced by officials of the league. Three separate reports are to be presented to the conference today, one covering the actual condition of the navy and a discussion of the policy already outlined by Secretary of the Navy Daniels; another discussing the army and Secretary Garrison's report and a third dealing with conditions in the organized militia.

Henry L. West, executive secretary of the league, said that five hundred delegates representing every state in the country and practically every large city are expected to attend the conference. Included in the list of speakers are Gov. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts; Luke Wright, former secretary of war; Lafayette Young of Des Moines, former United States senator; Gov. Edward P. Daniels of Illinois; Henry A. Wise Wood, president of the Anglo Club of America, and Gov. E. L. Philipp of Wisconsin.

TO "CONVERT" PRESIDENT

MRS. BELMONT GIVES $1000 TO GET "PRESIDENT TO SUPPORT WOMAN SUFFRAGE"

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Officers of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage are wondering today how they can best make use of $1000 contributed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont for the express purpose of "converting" President Wilson to the support of a proposed suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

"The president has said he believes woman suffrage a good thing for New Jersey," Mrs. Belmont said. "We must keep at him now until he says it is a good thing for the whole country."

Mrs. Belmont also advocates expenditure of suffrage funds to induce southern congressmen to support the federal amendment. The Congressional union has received a contribution of $1000 "converted" from Robert Root, who was one of their strongest opponents in the recent campaign in this state.

YOUNG FRENCH OFFICERS
General Joffre, French Commander, Retires Old Officers and Promotes Young Heroes

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The constant efforts of Gen. Joffre the French commander-in-chief to keep the higher commands in the charge of men of proved valor and initiative are exemplified once more by an announcement in the Official Journal that seven division generals and three brigade generals have been transferred to the reserve. Their places have been given to younger men who have distinguished themselves in recent operations.

Among the officers retired are Gen. A. M. B. Drude and Gen. de las Latrie.

UNSPEAKABLE CRIMES

Viscount Bryce Tells of Terrible Atrocities Committed by Turks on Armenians—Women Burned

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Viscount Bryce last night made public the details of further Armenian massacres, which in a letter accompanying them, he says "surpass in horror, if that were possible, what has been published already."

"I feel," his letter continues, "that such crimes ought to be exposed to the utmost, and that the charity of other nations will more than ever be drawn to the unhappy refugees when it is known what their friends and fellow countrymen have suffered."

Viscount Bryce says the details confirm and amplify the ghastly history by which Armenians in northern and eastern Anatolia have driven to a death of fiendish cruelty. The first part of the evidence, he says, was received by the committee of inquiry in the United States and the second part comes from an Armenian gentleman at Tiflis, who received it from refugees who escaped from regions where the events happened.

"The sufferings of the peasants and the mountaineers in the regions of Van, Mush and Saun," Viscount Bryce says "seem to have been even more terrible than were those of the peaceful town folk described in part one of the report. Every successive piece of evidence increases the horror of the story and confirms the dreadful certainty of its truth."

These atrocities were not produced by imagination. Many of them are verified by several coincident testimonies and the evidence is most complete. At this present phase of events the civilized world is powerless to intervene, but we must bear these unspeakable crimes in constant memory against the day of reckoning."

After giving the parts of the evidence received from the United States, Viscount Bryce says that the following extracts were taken from his correspondent at Tiflis:

"Toward the end of May, Djerdet Bey, the military governor, was expelled from Van. Djerdet fled southward and entered Sirt with some 5000 soldiers, whom he called 'butcher battalions.' He massacred most of the Christians at Sirt, the details of which nothing is known. On the best of authority, however, it is reported that he ordered his soldiers to burn in the public squares the Armenian bishop, Eglisse Variedad, and the Chaldean bishop, Adhal Sher."

On June 25 the Turks surrounded the town of Bitlis and cut its communications with neighboring Armenian villages. Then most of the able-bodied men were taken away from their homes by domiciliary visits. During the following few days all the men under arrest were shot outside the town and buried in deep trenches dug by the victims themselves. The young women and children were distributed among the rabble. The remainder, the 'useless lot,' were driven to the south and all believed to have been drowned in the Tigris.

"Any attempts at resistance, however brave, were quelled by the regular troops. Many Armenians, after firing their last cartridge, either took poison by whole families or killed themselves in their homes in order not to fall into the hands of the Turks. It is in such a fashion that the German ownership, awaits today an answer from Secretary of State Lansing to its request that an American warship be sent to Buenos Aires to convey its steamer Winnebago to British waters and save her from capture by British cruisers."

The vessels recently purchased by this company have been listed under American registry but have been listed as "suspected" by the British government.

The Winnebago is loaded with dry goods for sales not due order here to sea, fearing that British warships are lying in wait. Meanwhile the American Trans-Atlantic company, collecting affidavits from its stockholders to prove that only American citizens and American capital are interested in the ownership of its fleet, in the expectation that this will lead to diplomatic representations by Mr. Lansing to the British government.

BURGLARS BUSY

Three Railroad Stations Near Lowell Robbed Since Thursday

Three railroad stations in the suburbs of Lowell were broken into and ransacked between Thursday night and last night, but the thieves secured nothing valuable for their trouble. In all cases the telephone pay stations and the gum machines were broken open but only a few dollars were found.

The Westford depot was entered by some person or persons who after ransacking the office and finding no money in the cash drawer tore the telephone pay station from the wall and extracted its contents, about two dollars. There was no other money in the building as the station agent carries his receipts home each night.

The North Billerica station was entered by breaking a pane of glass in a window and forcing the catch. About 35 cents was taken from the drawer and several express packages were opened but so far as can be learned none was stolen. No clues were left by the burglars.

The Billerica Centre station was entered in the same way. Express packages were handled and a few taken, it is said. The pay station and the gum machines were knocked from the wall and their contents, amounting to only a few cents, taken.

SEIZED BY THE BRITISH AMERICAN TRANS-ATLANTIC CO. AWAITS ANSWER FROM SECRETARY LANSING

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The American Trans-Atlantic company, several of whose steamships have been seized by British warships under suspicion of Turks disposed of about 15,000 Armenians at Bitlis. At Mush, early in July, the authorities demanded arms from the Armenians and a large sum in ransom of notables of the town. The head men of the village were subjected to revolting tortures. Their fingernails and then their toenails were forcibly extracted, teeth were knocked out, and in some cases, noses were whittled down, the victims thus being doomed to death under shocking, lingering agony. The female relatives of the victims who came to the rescue were assaulted in public before the very eyes of their mutilated men. The shrieks and death cries of the victims filled the air, yet they did not move the Turkish beast.

"In the town of Mush itself the Armenians, under the leadership of Gotoyan and others, entrenched themselves in churches and stone built houses and fought for four days in self defense, but Turkish artillery, manned by German officers, made short work of all the Armenian positions and every one of the Armenian leaders as well as their men were killed in the fighting."

"When they were dead and silence reigned over the ruins of the churches and houses, the rest of the Moslem rabble descended upon the women and children and drove them out of the town into large camps, which already had been prepared for the peasant women and children."

"The ghastly scenes which followed may be imagined, yet these reports have been confirmed beyond all doubt. The shortest means employed for disposing of the women and children in the various camps was by burning. This was set to the large wooden sheds in Adnan, Mesragram, Khaslogh and other Armenian villages and these absolutely helpless women and children were roasted to death."

"Many women went mad and threw away their children. Some women knelt down and prayed amid the flames which were burning their bodies. Others shrieked for help which came from nowhere, and the executioners, who were armed with this unparalleled savagery, grasped infants by one leg and hurled them into the fire, calling out to the burning mothers, 'Here are your lions.'"

"Turkish prisoners, who apparently witnessed some of these scenes, were horrified and maddened at remembering the sight. The odor of burning flesh, they say, permeated the air for many days."

"In the hill country of Saun, the surviving warriors found themselves surrounded at four corners by 30,000 Turks and Kurds. Then followed one of those desperate heroic struggles for life which have always been the pride of the mountaineers. The men, women and children fought with knives, scythes and stone and anything else they could handle. They rolled blocks of stone down the steep slopes, killed many of their enemies. In the frightful hand to hand combats women were seen thrusting knives into the throats of Turks."

"When every warrior had fallen several of the younger women, who were in danger of falling into the hands of the Turks, threw themselves from the rocks, some of them with infants in their arms."

FOUND GUILTY

Hinds Convicted For Death of His Two Children by Fire

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 27.—A jury by a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, last night held Harry H. Hinds responsible for causing the death of his two children by fire. The jury was out nearly 10 hours. The bedroom which he shared with the children was saturated with gasoline and was touched off by Hinds. The prosecution contended, as a means of avoiding punishment on a charge for which he was sought, Hinds himself was badly burned in the fire, which occurred on April 9, last. He will be sentenced later. Robert J. Crowley of Lowell, deputy district attorney, prosecuted the case for the state as William H. Lewis of Boston, represented the defendant.

LOWELL ART EXHIBITION

Work of Lowell Artists Exhibited at Whistler House—Some of Whistler's Included

The Lowell Art association opened its winter season last evening with a private view of what is in all probability the finest collection of paintings shown as yet at the Whistler house—and all the work of Lowell artists. It was an evening of pleasure and enjoyment with only one note of regret, and that furnished by the formal farewell of the association to Rev. and Mrs. Charles T. Billings, two of the warmest friends and supporters of the society. Mr. Billings has served as vice president, and the reception of last evening proved that he has endeared himself to the body. Refreshments were served in the supper room by the hospital committee under the general direction of Mrs. Joseph Nesmith with Miss M. P. H. Robbins and Mrs. J. A. Nesmith pouring, assisted by a band of ladies.

The exhibition will continue during the next two weeks from 9 to 5 daily. Members of the association can gain admission by presenting this year's cards, and the general public may gain admission on payment of 25 cents.

There are 27 canvases by Lowell artists and many similar sketches, studies, pieces of sculpture, embroidery, metal work, etc. Every available inch of space has been utilized and, considering the limitations of the Whistler house, the pictures are in the main well hung.

The most notable pictures are three by Whistler, the exhibition of which is an artistic event of which any city might boast. One is a large study of a girl's head for his picture, "Little Miss Alexander," and it is thoroughly characteristic of his style and treatment of portraiture. It is most appropriately hung against a beautiful piece of Japanese embroidery with a peacock motif, lent by Mrs. Mary E. Wood. As usual with Whistler's pictures, the tones are subdued and the thin color is laid on with sketchy boldness. Another Whistler is a little water color in pale blue and gray with large masses of cumulous clouds. This sketch was made in Chelsea, and is the first of the water color sketches made there. The little picture of the fete at Ostend, from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, is most effective with its dark tending hues, which float two great banners. These Whistler pictures were lent by Mr. Frank Gair Macomber of Boston. There is also a most effective copy of Whistler's "Little Rose of Lyme-Regis," by Miss Elizabeth Walsh of this city, the accomplished daughter of Mr. A. G. Walsh, who has caught the Whistler spirit in the copy. Miss Walsh also lent a lovely original picture in "Miss Mary," a charming child study in a striking pose.

The late David Neal, who has attained a world-wide fame, is represented by the study from the famous "First Meeting of Mary Stuart and Elizabeth," and also by the "Italian Court-yard," and some studies of Italian architecture.

Mr. Willard L. Metcalf's picture, "The Partridge Woods," is a striking canvas, full of color and the life of the open. Toned in a pale, cool green, it is flecked with patterned pastel tints, and has originally written all over it. One is again going to the exhibit by this one picture.

The study of Mr. F. B. Greenhalge as a child—by Mrs. Sarah Wyman Whitman—is noteworthy. There is also another charming study of a child by the same artist, lent by Miss Robbins, and a landscape study.

Mrs. Mary Kate Wood, who has a studio at the Whistler House, has lent the bold and effective portrait of Gen. Greeley and an unfinished study of Miss Betty Eastman, in which the warm flesh tints and the rose mantle arouse admiration.

Thomas E. Lawson, formerly Lowell's leading portrait artist is seen in the self-study owned by the association, a graphic study in which the treatment of light is most effective and a quaint picture of Daniel Webster in the style of a few generations ago.

John I. Coggeshall has two fine studies of landscape, one of sea cliffs and the other of an inland scene. Both are full of color and the broad treatment characteristic of his work.

The hilltop picture by Wm. P. Phelps is one of the loveliest pictures in the exhibit. Though hung poorly, the effect of the sunset afterglow is most striking and there is a genuine inspiration in the execution of the scene.

Walter L. Dean is represented by a bright marine picture, "U.S.S. Charleston," and the late Alfred Ordway has a pale and pretty girl's head—a study of Miss Isabel Nesmith.

There are many pictures by local artists, chief among which are two brilliant studies by Joseph A. Nesmith. These are executed with bold, broad strokes and show modern influence. Mr. Adelbert Ames has a fine interior and the striking Indian Head. Two of his sisters are also represented—Mrs. Oakes Ames and Mrs. Andrew Marshall, the former by the lovely "Jewel of Casket" in which the painting of textures is remarkable, and the latter by a pale and pretty girl's head, a charming picture of Mrs. Butler Ames by Mrs. Marshall which is a really fine picture.

The wax and enamel portraits and reproductions by Miss Ruth Burke have caught the spirit of the antique wonderfully well. They bear the most minute examination and attract by their brilliancy of color. Lack of space prevents adequate notice of the Whistler and Hornby etchings and the work of Mr. Loren Martin, Mr. Frederick W. Coburn, Miss Florence Nesmith, Miss Elizabeth Irish, Mrs. Louise Allen Hobbs and the other exhibitors.

The accident was the exhibition one of the most notable artistic events ever held in Lowell.

men themselves—the men of the league.

"How is the effort to oust you from office getting along?" he was asked.

"Well," said Mr. Osborne, "of course I am under the superintendent of prisons, and he would remove me if he dared. But he does not dare, because the governor would not stand for it."

"On the other hand, because of a peculiarity in the law, the governor cannot remove the superintendent except upon charges. So there we are, and the superintendent, my superior officer, is doing all he can to make my position untenable."

Mr. Osborne left Boston at midnight for Sing Sing. With him was Donald Lowell, famous as the author of a book of life in prison, written from actual experience, and now engaged in lecturing and writing other books on the same subject.

SHOTS REVEAL TRAGEDY

VICKERY MAROONED ON ISLAND—PARKER DROWNED—BODY RECOVERED

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 27.—The body of Philip Parker, aged 36, of Glenburn, who was drowned by the upsetting of a canoe at Pushaw lake Thursday, was recovered yesterday afternoon in about 15 feet of water, not far from where the accident took place.

The accident was not known of until yesterday morning, when signal shots were heard from Dollar Island, and Earle Vickery of Glenburn was found on the island suffering from cold and exposure. He said that he and Parker had been hunting, and were paddling across the pond with a stiff breeze and choppy sea. In some way, which does not appear clear to Vickery, the canoe suddenly capsized. Both struck out for the nearest shore, which was Dollar Island. Vickery reached it much exhausted, but Parker sank.

Vickery managed to start a fire, but suffered much from the cold. He fired four shots at intervals, which were heard by a searching party started out by Vickery's father, who had become alarmed.

Parker lived with his father, Hiram Parker, and had recently come home after several years in the west.

THE SPELLBINDER

While, it is not believed, generally, that the recount will change the names of the successful nominees, nevertheless everybody seems to be lying low until after the recount.

In many cases wagers made on the results have not been paid over as the stake-holders to protect themselves are holding back the money placed in their hands, until after the registrars have gone over the ballots. It is possible that the positions of Mayor Murphy and former Mayor O'Donnell may be changed as there is a difference of but two votes between them.

Many bets were made that the mayor would be high man and many were made that O'Donnell would lead; hence the interest in some quarters in the pending recount.

Many bets were made on the possibility of Dr. Miganelli's nomination, and also upon the number of votes that he would receive. There were quite a few wagers that he would get over 3000, and it is not thought that a recount can affect such wagers.

The recount will be watched with interest, also, to ascertain what "bullet" if any, it may disclose.

A Popular Issue

The different candidates in their stump speeches touched upon a variety of issues, but the most popular of all those touched upon, was the motor ambulance matter.

Everybody, whether a candidate for mayor or commissioner, had a word to say about the motor ambulance, except, of course, the candidates connected with the present administration who refused to purchase the ambulance after the preceding government had left its members the necessary appropriation.

One evening while Jackson Palmer was speaking a man in the crowd was arrested and the patrol wagon motored up to get the unfortunate. Taking the arrival of the motor patrol wagon as his cue, Mr. Palmer launched forth into a discussion of the necessity of a motor ambulance.

The Murphyite evidently had a happy thought for he suddenly produced a two dollar bill, and said: "I'll bet you two dollars that Murphy beats him; a dollar about enough."

He had visions of the fellow with the lone sheet "snealing" before the crowd, but again the "angel" who was thoroughly enjoying the situation slipped a bill to the O'Donnell supporter and the latter forthwith and with due acclaim produced the goods.

"Put up your two. I'm with you," he cried.

"Take your time; take your time, I'll be here for half an hour yet," said his opponent in a fine attempt to "stall" until he could recover from his surprise, for neither time did he see the money being passed.

But he was out to top the other fellow's bank roll, in any event, and a few moments later he declared: "I'll make that five dollars or nothing on Murphy."

By this time the third party began to wonder what he had bumped into, but he was game and when the other wasn't looking slipped his friend a five spot which the latter laid on the counter with the demand: "Cover it!"

The Murphy man ordered another cup of coffee and took his time sweetening it. Then he got up and dipping into his pocket drew forth a ten dollar note and exclaimed:

"There's ten dollars on Murphy, let's see how game you are!"

It so happened that the silent banker in the case was well heeled and he slipped his friend five more and the latter produced the ten and grew even more eloquent as his roll grew.

The Murphy supporter by this time was decidedly worried, but he made one more attempt to beat out his rival and counting out $20, the extent of his wealth, he cried: "There it is, $20. If you mean business cover it!"

But the "angel" was on the job and the mushroom capitalist came back with the $20. Whereupon the Murphy man quickly placing his own $20 bet on the counter started for the door remarking: "You're a fine sort of man, bumming a dime for a feed with a roll in your pocket!"

"And you're a finer sort of man trying to shut me up with a phoney bet when you thought I was broke," was the parting shot that followed him into the night.

What Some One Said

Says Nat Bene in the Courier-Citizen, Joyous mood:

"Let's see, didn't some one tell Perry there wasn't a chance?"

Very truly, indeed.

But let's see, didn't the same someone also tell Perry that he controlled two papers, other than The Sun? Ask Perry.

What is a Public Hall?

The question as to what is meant by public hall, is suggested by Commissioner Duncan's statement yesterday relative thereto. Commissioner Duncan says that it will be, in his opinion, a waste of money to construct a public hall, when the city is already embarked on a program to build a new high school which will have a hall, the seating capacity of which will be anywhere from 2500 to 3000 persons. Such a hall, in the new building, he says will add $60,000 to $70,000 to the cost of the building and to spend that amount on a hall alone, which will be used three or four times a year, is a waste he believes.

Commissioner Duncan's statements as to the hall are all right if a public hall is what he says it is, but it is the popular impression that a public hall is something after the nature of old Huntington hall, a place of big floor space and seating capacity that may be used for large public meetings, theatrical performances and concerts and even for dances.

Either the day or evening schools are in session and surely concerts could not be held while school was in session. Big political meetings would hardly do in a high school hall while theatricals, dances and bazaars would be entirely out of the question. The public has declared itself as favoring a public hall, and now the question arises, what is a public hall?

SEN. GALLINGER APPEARS IN BEHALF OF JOHN WILLIAMS, SERVING SENTENCE FOR MURDER

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 27.—The governor and council yesterday afternoon gave a long hearing on the petition for the pardon of John Williams, sentenced to prison for 30 years for murder committed in Dover in 1900.

This is the second attempt to get Williams out of prison, another having been made during the administration of Governor Floyd. The pardon yesterday was asked by Senator Gallinger and others.

With others, Williams shot up the ladder in Dover on the fourth of July, 1900, and was arrested on July 6, with four others, giving the names of John Farren, William Scott, Frank Gold and John Brown.

Of the five, Williams, Gold and Brown were identified as the men who shot the victim, Daniel Sullivan, one of the victims of the fusillade. Williams was also identified by other persons as having been concerned in the attack.

The prisoner was represented today by Jewett Hale of Lancaster and Remick & Jackson of this city, as counsel.

In his behalf and asking for the pardon were United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, Mrs. Jeanette King Gallinger, Mrs. James W. Remick, Leavin J. Chase of this city, Ex-Gov. Charles E. Cox of Manchester, ex-Gov. North and William S. Pierce of Dover and others. The granting of the pardon was opposed by Atty Gen. Tuttle and by the solicitor of Strafford county. The hearing was not concluded until a late hour last evening, when the matter was taken under advisement.

The present move for the pardon of Williams, as were the others, was brought about by Williams' sister, who took up her residence in Concord shortly after the incarceration of her brother.

101,000 SERBS TAKEN HELD UP BY BLOCKADE

INVASING FORCES ALSO HAVE RESCUED 2000 AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS, SAYS BERLIN REPORT

BERLIN, Nov. 27, via wireless to Sayville.—"The number of Serbian prisoners taken up to the present time by the German, Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian troops," says the Overseas News agency, "is 101,000 officers and men. The invading forces also have rescued 2000 Austro-Hungarians who had been made prisoner by the Serbians, but later abandoned during the hasty retreat of King Peter's forces."

"With the capture of the Serbian towns of Mitrovitz and Pristina," the news agency adds, "the last section of the railroad from Uekup to Mitrovitz was wrested from the Serbians."

Continuing the Overseas News agency says:

"Reports from the Balkan front state that the colonel in command of the Serbians in the Zovcar district before retreating ordered the destruction of the copper works there belonging to a French corporation. The blast furnaces, workshops and dwellings of the workmen were blown up and the pit was flooded. The manager of the works, a Hungarian by birth, but a Bulgarian citizen, has disappeared."

"The German detachment now occupying the district is at work restoring the copper mines to their former activity."

SEN. SIMMONS INDORSES SEC. McADOO'S PLAN—SEN. SMOOT OF UTAH RAPS STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Sec. McAdoo's plan for raising by internal taxes the additional revenue needed by the government to meet a deficit and cover the initial expense of army and navy increases, was endorsed yesterday by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee.

While Senator Simmons was announcing his views, Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the leading republican members of the finance committee, gave out a statement attacking Sec. McAdoo's general financial statement. The Utah senator stated that all the secretary's revenue estimates were too high and those for expenditures too low and that misleading bookkeeping changes had been resorted to.

"Although I have not had an opportunity to investigate closely the details of the administration's defense plan," said Senator Simmons, "I approve the general idea which I understand underlies it."

"With reference to preparedness generally, I think that the sentiment of the people of my state would be against what has been characterized as frenzied preparedness, but on the other hand, in favor of what might be termed common sense preparedness; that is, preparedness that would enable us to defend ourselves if attacked, and to defend our rights upon the high seas, as well as the land, if these rights are invaded."

"I would have a navy adequate not only for defense, but adequate to assert our rights."

B. P. O. ELKS BIG SHOW

LOWELL LODGE WILL HOLD FORTH AT KEITH'S IN AID OF CHRISTMAS CHARITY FUND

One of the features of Elksdom the country over, is the Christmas charity feature of the organization. Every lodge of Elks whether in the big cities or in the smallest towns, at Christmas time dispenses charity without ostentation among the worthy poor. The Elks' first consideration is for the families of deceased members who may be in need. Having looked after them, they then give their attention to the worthy poor of their community, the members seeking out such cases as assisted by the police and others who are in touch with the poor.

Last year the members of Lowell lodge to a man contributed cheerfully to the Christmas charity fund and hundreds of poor families were made happy.

This year the Elks will continue their good work, but have adopted a different method of raising the fund. Instead of taking up contributions they will hold a minstrel entertainment at Keith's theatre on the evening of Dec. 7 which will consist of a minstrel first part and olio followed by the regular Elks' professional bill. A similar show given by the Elks some time ago proved to be one of the biggest attractions of its kind ever held in Lowell and the Christmas show promises to excel the initial effort. A. Warren Churchill is the musical director and has been rehearsing a chorus of 30 voices twice weekly for the past four weeks. "Herb" Webster will again officiate as interlocutor, and as Charlie Kelchner would say: "He can do it." All the old favorite soloists will take part and several new ones. Among the soloists will be Andrew A. McCarthy, James E. Donnelly, Ernest J. Tugent, Richard Robinson and James H. Daley. For end men there will be "Tip" Handley, of Honey Boy fame, Harry Pitts, Gene Brown, "Big Bill" Looney, Capt. Jeyes and Eddie Hillpatrick. Then there will be five big acts in the olio, including Jim Walker, Joe Maggerty and Chris. Hagan, in an entirely new blackface musical and dancing act which promises to be a hummer. LOWELL PRIESTS CHOSEN

APPOINTED BY WILLIAM CARDINAL O'CONNELL TO IMPORTANT POSITIONS

The many friends of Rev. C. Victor Choquette, a native of this city and son of Mrs. Jerome Choquette of 772 Moody street, will be pleased to learn he has been appointed pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Brockton, which means that he has been transferred to a more important parish, for he was pastor of St. Joseph's church, Malden. Another important change made this week by William Cardinal O'Connell is the promotion of Rev. Henri J. Dillon, another former resident of this city, from assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church, Salem, to the pastorate of St. Joseph's church, Malden.

Rev. C. Victor Choquette was born in Lowell 37 years ago. He received his elementary education at St. Joseph's convent and St. Joseph's college, this city. Later he entered the Holy Angels college at Buffalo, N. Y., and finally finished his studies at St. John's seminary, Brighton, being ordained there in June, 1902.

Shortly after his ordination Fr. Choquette was assigned to the Sacred Heart church, Brockton, as assistant pastor, where he remained 16 years. He had won the esteem of the parishioners, and it was with sorrow that they heard of his transfer to Malden.

The young clergyman, upon arriving at Malden, where he was delegated to found a new parish, purchased a tract of land and for several months celebrated mass under a tent. Finally, he purchased a large building formerly occupied as a stable and converted it into a church. Last year the energetic young priest bought a large tract of land and made plans for the erection of a magnificent church. He also purchased a two-apartment house, which he remodeled into a modern rectory.

A couple of weeks ago Rev. Fr. Genest, who had been pastor of the Sacred Heart church in Brockton, passed away, causing a vacancy which Rev. Fr. Choquette will fill. He will take up his new duties next Monday, and will have as his assistant Rev. R. A. Fortier, formerly assistant pastor of St. Louis church, this city. The Brockton parish is a well established parish. It has a fine church, and a modern parochial school, and it is fair to assume that under the direction of Fr. Choquette the parish will keep on progressing as it has in the past.

Rev. Filloa
Rev. Henri J. Dillon, who has been assigned as pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Malden, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dillon of 318 Hildreth street. He was born at Actonville, Que., 28 years ago. At the age of three years his parents removed to Nashua, N. H., and it was there that the young clergyman received his elementary education. Fr. Dillon pursued his classical course at the St. Hyacinthe, Que. seminary and later completed his theology at St. John's seminary, Brighton. He was ordained at the latter place on June 9, 1911, and shortly after his ordination he was assigned to St. Joseph's church, Salem, as assistant pastor. The young clergyman was connected with the Salem church during the great conflagration, and he proved of great help to the afflicted. Fr. Dillon is a bright and energetic young man and his friends predict he will be successful as pastor of St. Joseph's church in Malden.

REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN AN IMPORTANT SUCCESS FOR THE ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The battle between British and Turkish forces at Ctesiphon, near Bagdad, which for a time looked like a check to the Mesopotamian expedition, is now reported to have been a success of first importance.

Information received today is that the retirement of the British after the capture of Ctesiphon occasioned by the lack of water, was only temporary. After the Turks withdrew in the direction of Bagdad, as announced officially yesterday, the British recaptured their former positions, encountering no opposition, as they took possession of Ctesiphon, for the second time.

British troops at once began the work of clearing the Turkish trenches which were filled with dead or wounded soldiers. The British captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition, in addition to the 1300 prisoners previously reported.

Ctesiphon has been the scene of many battles. The ancient city was besieged and plundered a dozen times by Greek and Roman invaders from the east before the Arabs finally sacked it.

FLAY MRS. PANKHURST

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Many members of the Women's Social and Political union have revolted against the leadership of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. A largely attended meeting under the chairmanship of Mrs. Eleanor Penn Gaskell unanimously approved a long indictment against Mrs. Pankhurst.

In this indictment those who attended the meeting charge that, in using the name of the Women's Social and Political union for political purposes Mrs. Pankhurst was acting without authority, "the consent of the members not having been asked or obtained." They blame her for failing to utilize the organization for some form of national service during the war, which service is said to be in accordance with the desires of an overwhelming majority of the members, the disregard of which, coupled with Mrs. Pankhurst's complete control of the funds and local machinery, has been "virtually to disband and break up the W.S.P.U. as a national organization."

They accuse her of usurping authority and expelling members who differed from her "in order to stifle opposition to her will," resulting "in the removal from membership of almost all the women possessed of influence, capacity and independence of thought." They declare that when controlling funds she has shown callous indifference to the sufferings of destitute members.

Finally, they call upon Mrs. Pankhurst to issue immediately a statement showing how the funds have been expended since the war began. They ask "Christabel Pankhurst, her daughter, to resign or explain her continued absence from the country."

MANHOLE BLOWN INTO AIR

ARLINGTON, Nov. 27.—Miss Mary Oliver of 35 Fairmount street had a narrow escape from serious injury last night when a gas manhole cover on which she stood blew up at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Magnolia street. She was not injured, but received a severe fright.

Two other covers nearby were blown into the air at the same time from some undetermined cause.

The streets were fairly peopled at the time and the series of reports caused great excitement.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

TODAY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS ELEVATION TO COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Today marks the fourth anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal O'Connell to the College of Cardinals. On Nov. 27, 1911, he was created cardinal by Pope Pius X. Today the clergy and laity all over the diocese of Boston will rejoice. Ever since the cardinal's jurisdiction over the diocese the work of the Catholic church has grown apace. Never before was it in such a flourishing condition.

Ordained in 1884,

In brief, the history of Cardinal O'Connell's rise from a priest to a prince of the Roman Catholic church is as follows: He was born in Lowell.

On June 8, 1884, he was ordained a priest. He was consecrated bishop of Portland, Me., May 15, 1901. On Jan. 4, 1905, he was made assistant at the pontifical throne. On Feb. 8, 1906, he was named archbishop of Constantinople and coadjutor, with the right of succession to the archbishop of Boston. He succeeded to the see of Boston, Aug. 30, 1907, and was created cardinal Nov. 27, 1911.

Cardinal O'Connell is the one who riveted the Catholics of Boston together in one concrete, harmonious whole, by the impetus he has given to such works as the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the Church Extension Society, the Federation of Catholic societies, and the encouragement he has given to all the Catholic societies.

Churches Have Multiplied

Since he has named archbishop of Boston, Catholic churches have multiplied. Under his administration the number and valuation of the parochial schools of the diocese has doubled. Today the parochial schools of the diocese teach between 60,000 and 70,000 children. Under Cardinal O'Connell's charge St. John's Ecclesiastical seminary in Brighton has experienced a development that has culminated in a perfect equipment and an efficiency second to none.

Among the Catholic institutions in which the cardinal has shown much interest is the Catholic Charitable bureau, in charge of the Rev. M. J. Scanlan; the fine new St. Elizabeth's hospital, which surmounts a hill in the Brighton district; the convent building attached to the hospital, which he dedicated last Sunday; the Home for Convalescent St. Joseph's Home for Aged Women, West Brookline street, and many others.

Established "Charity Sunday"

It was Cardinal O'Connell who established "Charity Sunday" in the archdiocese. He has been called the "greatest federation cardinal in the world today." The written words of the cardinal have been many and profound. He has spoken to 1,000,000 Catholics of the diocese, at celebrations, dedications, blessings of schools, federation meetings and public meetings. Four volumes of the cardinal's writings have been published.

The cardinal started with the idea of federation eight years ago. Union has been his watchword, and federation of the priests and the people and unswerving loyalty and the making of all things that tend to the glorification of the church his aim. Today he needs no formal tribute from Boston Catholics and the church. The fruit of his work speaks for itself.

LOWELL TEACHERS' MUSICAL

The music lovers of Lowell will be especially fortunate this winter in having the opportunity of hearing Boston and New York harmony artists in Lowell, as the Teachers' organization is to give a series of Wednesday evening musicals in which world famous artists will entertain. The Teachers' organization is to be congratulated for bringing such high class talent to Lowell, including Alvin Schroeder, cellist; Blanche Hamilton, Fox, contralto; Marie L. Pichard, coloratura; Burton Miersel, primo basso; Heinrich Gebhard, pianist; Miss Withelmia Wright, soprano, and Charles Shepherd, accompanist. The first Wednesday evening of December, 16, and a large amount of important records and sold read a commendation from the grand chorale. A communication was also received from Past Supreme Chancellor Thomas Carling asking for support in establishing a tuberculosis hospital. Permission has been granted by the grand chorale for the use of the famous Rathbone pipe and it is expected to have some excellent speakers and entertainers present. The relief committee reported that Brothers Humphrey, Venable and Paquette are on the road to recovery. The annual election of officers will take place next Friday evening.

New Records for CHRISTMAS Now on Sale

to the see of Boston, Aug. 30, 1907, and was created cardinal Nov. 27, 1911.

Cardinal O'Connell is the one who riveted the Catholics of Boston together in one concrete, harmonious whole, by the impetus he has given to such works as the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the Church Extension Society, the Federation of Catholic societies, and the encouragement he has given to all the Catholic societies.

Churches Have Multiplied

Since he has named archbishop of Boston, Catholic churches have multiplied. Under his administration the number and valuation of the parochial schools of the diocese has doubled. Today the parochial schools of the diocese teach between 60,000 and 70,000 children. Under Cardinal O'Connell's charge St. John's Ecclesiastical seminary in Brighton has experienced a development that has culminated in a perfect equipment and an efficiency second to none.

Among the Catholic institutions in which the cardinal has shown much interest is the Catholic Charitable bureau, in charge of the Rev. M. J. Scanlan; the fine new St. Elizabeth's hospital, which surmounts a hill in the Brighton district; the convent building attached to the hospital, which he dedicated last Sunday; the Home for Convalescent St. Joseph's Home for Aged Women, West Brookline street, and many others.

Established "Charity Sunday"

It was Cardinal O'Connell who established "Charity Sunday" in the archdiocese. He has been called the "greatest federation cardinal in the world today." The written words of the cardinal have been many and profound. He has spoken to 1,000,000 Catholics of the diocese, at celebrations, dedications, blessings of schools, federation meetings and public meetings. Four volumes of the cardinal's writings have been published.

The cardinal started with the idea of federation eight years ago. Union has been his watchword, and federation of the priests and the people and unswerving loyalty and the making of all things that tend to the glorification of the church his aim. Today he needs no formal tribute from Boston Catholics and the church. The fruit of his work speaks for itself.

LOWELL TEACHERS' MUSICAL

The music lovers of Lowell will be especially fortunate this winter in having the opportunity of hearing Boston and New York harmony artists in Lowell, as the Teachers' organization is to give a series of Wednesday evening musicals in which world famous artists will entertain. The Teachers' organization is to be congratulated for bringing such high class talent to Lowell, including Alvin Schroeder, cellist; Blanche Hamilton, Fox, contralto; Marie L. Pichard, coloratura; Burton Miersel, primo basso; Heinrich Gebhard, pianist; Miss Withelmia Wright, soprano, and Charles Shepherd, accompanist. The first Wednesday evening of December, 16, and a large amount of important records and sold read a commendation from the grand chorale. A communication was also received from Past Supreme Chancellor Thomas Carling asking for support in establishing a tuberculosis hospital. Permission has been granted by the grand chorale for the use of the famous Rathbone pipe and it is expected to have some excellent speakers and entertainers present. The relief committee reported that Brothers Humphrey, Venable and Paquette are on the road to recovery. The annual election of officers will take place next Friday evening.

BIG DOLLAR DAY SALE

Board of Trade Gets Lowell Merchants to Sell Goods at Cost as an Advertisement

Through the efforts of the members of the mercantile committee of the Lowell board of trade the residents of Lowell will be given an opportunity to get at least 150 cents worth for one dollar next Wednesday, "Dollar Day."

This will be the first time in the history of Lowell that a dollar sale will be conducted in this city, and it is believed by many that it will bring forth as good results here as it has in other cities, such as Manchester, N. H., where about once every three months a dollar sale is conducted by all the merchants of the city.

The members of the mercantile committee have been planning for the event for some time, and now practically all arrangements are completed to conduct the sale on next Wednesday. The merchants have agreed to offer special inducements for that day.

The residents of the surrounding towns will also be given inducement to visit Lowell on Wednesday, for special rates will be offered to the suburban residents. The object of the dollar sale is to induce the residents of this city to trade at home, and the sale, although goods will be sold at cost price, will help the merchants merely as an advertisement.

In order to get the merchants interested in this sale, the committee has arranged for a dinner at the D. L. Pusey Co. banquet hall Tuesday noon at 12.30 o'clock. Some 40 or 50 merchants have been invited. An address will be delivered by John F. Kirby of New York, field secretary of the National Dry Goods association.

Mr. Kirby is an excellent speaker, who has made his mark in various cities of the commonwealth, and he will instruct the local merchants on the problems of the retailer, bringing forth modern ideas, and incidentally he will refer to the dollar sale and the benefits to be derived from it by both the merchants and the public. The dinner will be presided over by Harry L. Chaffee, and those who wish to attend are requested to notify Secretary John H. Murphy on or before Monday. Half-price advertisements concerning the real bargains which will be offered by the local merchants on "Dollar Day" will be published in Tuesday's issue of The Sun and other local papers.

MATRIMONIAL

Leo Lyons, formerly of Lowell and of Boston, and Miss Sadie F. McCarty, a teacher at the Green grammar school, were married Thursday afternoon at St. Peter's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Keleher. The bride wore a dress of ivory white duchesse cut with train and trimmed with lace. She wore a veil caught with pins and a shower bouquet of orange-blossoms of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie Lyons, who wore a pink church dress with pearl and lace trimmings. The groom wore a dark suit and carried a sword. The bridegroom was Harry D. Lyons, brother of the bride, who is a student at the University of Lowell. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Sarah A. McCarty, 8 Linden street, where a reception was held. After the ceremony the couple will make their home at 10 Tovar street, Dorchester. No cards.

Denomme—Demers
Arthur Denomme and Miss Marie Thibault Demers were married Thursday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, Rev. Charles Denier, O.M.I., officiating. The bride wore a white gown with a train and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom wore a dark suit and carried a sword. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, 28 Howard street, where a reception was held. After the ceremony the couple will make their home at 28 Howard street.

Gray—Bennett
Guy D. Gray and Miss Maude M. Bennett were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bennett in North Chelmsbury. Miss Esther Bennett was bridesmaid and Roland H. Gray, best man.

Larose—Daigle
Henry Larose and Miss Marie F. B. Daigle were married Thursday afternoon at St. Louis church by Rev. L. C. Edard. The best man and bridesmaid were Arsene Larose and Marilda Daigle respectively. The bride wore a white church dress with train and carried roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom was attired in white silk and carried American beauty roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 53 First street.

Macbride—Stevens
William Blain Macbride and Miss Helen Marion Stephens were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 17 South Walker street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Asa R. Dilts, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

Clement—Lapointe
Harve Clement and Miss Marie Ann Lapointe were married Thursday at St. Louis church by Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor. The witnesses were Frank Lapointe and Victor Clement. After a honeymoon trip the couple will make their home at 121 Branch street.

Cavanaugh—Cavanaugh
John Cavanaugh and Miss Ellen Cavanaugh were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 17 South Walker street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Asa R. Dilts, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

DYNAMITE PLOT

New Names Mentioned in the Schmidt Trial—Davis Testifies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Frank C. Webb of New York and Michael J. Cunneen of Philadelphia were involved in the McNamara dynamite plot, according to testimony given yesterday at the trial of Matthew A. Schmidt by George E. Davis, confessed participant in the McNamara dynamite outrages.

Webb and Cunneen were former members of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. Schmidt is charged with murder in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building five years ago.

Davis, who had not testified in any of the previous trials growing out of the dynamiting conspiracy for which the McNamara brothers now are serving terms in San Quentin penitentiary, was put on the stand by the prosecution in the effort to connect Schmidt with the crime for which the McNamara brothers were sent to prison. The witness said Webb took him to Cunneen, who procured dynamite which Davis was to use.

Davis testified he was a ironworker in New York city in 1907 and that he held a conversation with Webb in the latter's home late that year. Asked to relate the substance of the conversation, Davis said:

"You went over to Philadelphia and saw Mike Cunneen after this conversation with Webb?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, Cunneen told me he could get the dynamite, but it would take about three days, as he would have to go out in the country and get it."

Davis testified that he came back in three days and that Cunneen gave him about 40 pounds of dynamite in a suit case, which the witness said he took to Harrison and used to blow up a bridge there Dec. 28, 1907.

Frank Eckoff, a former union ironworker of Cincinnati, testified that James P. McNamara timed an explosion against a railroad construction job in Cincinnati in 1907. He said McNamara planned to blow up the Beaver bridge at Rochester, Pa., with a passenger train on it the following year, and that under the direction of James B. McNamara, he (Eckoff) went to Indianapolis to shadow Miss Mary Dye.

Miss Dye, now a witness for the state in the trial of Schmidt, formerly was a stenographer at the headquarters of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers at Indianapolis. In giving a reason why McNamara wished to have her shadow, Eckoff said she "knew too much."

In 1910, Eckoff testified, he met James B. McNamara in Boston, where McNamara then told him his brother, John J. had ordered him to proceed to Los Angeles where the Times building was blown up, Oct. 1, 1910. Referring to the Cincinnati bomb explosion in 1908, Eckoff said James B. McNamara offered him a place as a "knacker" on the elevated railroad construction job. He refused because the work was too well guarded.

Two Bay State Jobs
Davis testified regarding a series of explosions in a period extending from Dec. 23, 1907, to June 14, 1908. He said he actually set off the explosions, but that the dynamites were accomplished under the direct supervision of Frank C. Webb, then a member of the executive boards of both the New York and Boston orders of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

The witness testified to having personally perpetrated the following: Dynamiting bridge at Harrison, N. J., Dec. 23, 1907; dynamiting bridge at Perth Amboy, N. J., March 10, 1908; dynamiting railroad bridge at Freshwater, Md., March 25, 1908; setting off explosion under Chelsea Pier, also referred to as Pier 58, in New York city, April 5, 1908; dynamiting material for elevated railroad at village on Delaware avenue, Philadelphia, April 15, 1908; blowing up bridge at Slades Ferry, Fall River, Mass., April 26, 1908; setting off explosive under railroad bridge at Baychester, N. Y., May 10, 1908; dynamiting material for bridge at Somerset, Mass., June 14, 1908.

In addition Davis told of an attempt to place dynamite under a drawbridge over the Bronx river at 148th street in New York city, May 9, 1908. He testified that this attempt was foiled by a watchman and he was forced to throw the dynamite in the river and flee.

He also related how by which he was to blow up a bridge at South Bethlehem, Pa., and another at Providence, R. I., in May and June of the same year, but he said conditions were not favorable and he backed down at the last moment.

KITCHENER GETS PERMISSION TO USE GREEK PORTS OTHER THAN SALONIKI

MILAN, Nov. 26, via Paris, Nov. 27.—Earl Kitchener, British secretary of war, obtained permission from the Greek government for allied troops to land at Greek ports other than Saloniki, according to an Athens despatch to the Corriere Della Sera.

TROOPS CONTINUE TO LAND
LONDON, Nov. 27.—Allied troops continue to land at Saloniki in large numbers. A Reuter despatch said yesterday that British reinforcements reached that port on Thursday and were landed immediately.

After the occupation of Pristina by the Austrians and Germans, the message says, the main body of Serbians retreated in a southerly direction. The Serbians were unable to maintain their positions in the Kitchener region owing to the greatly superior forces of the invaders.

Official announcement has been made to the commanders of allied troops at Saloniki of the guarantees given by the Greek government relative to freedom of action of their armies.

Winter has set in earlier than usual in the Balkans. It is expected military operations on both sides will be greatly hampered thereby.

ported a building to his department this year.

In his letter to Mr. Saunders the commissioner refers to the article in The Lowell Sun in which the chief is quoted as making certain statements, and the commissioner then proceeds as follows:

"If the quotation is correct, allow me the privilege of saying to you that to my knowledge you have never reported to this office during the present year any such condition. I would respectfully ask therefore that you write me fully regarding this error, trap and also enclosing this report of fire traps in the city, together with a number of buildings that ought to be torn down."

Chief Saunders reiterated today what he said to The Sun man a few days ago. He says he reported the buildings in question and he also says he will take no back water on his statement to the effect that there are hundreds of fire traps in Lowell and a number of buildings that ought to be torn down.

Better Fire Protection
Engineer Arthur T. Safford of the Locks & Canals was a caller at Commissioner Carmichael's office this forenoon. His visit had to do with the proposition to connect the city mains with the Locks & Canals system for protection in case of serious conflagration. The locks & Canals have prepared plans and they will have to be passed upon by Engineer Goodenough of the state board of health and Prof. Whipple of Harvard who is an advisory member of the state board of health. Prof. Whipple is a well known authority as a sanitary engineer. The work of connecting the two water services will be done by and at the expense of the Locks & Canals company, subject to the approval of the commissioner of water works and fire protection. The estimated cost is $500, including valves, gates and labor. Commissioner Carmichael says the valves and gates are very expensive and after the work has been completed, Supt. Thomas of the water department will have absolute control of all gates and valves and will be liable for any other person to interfere in any way with the handling of them. Commissioner Carmichael states that the work will be started just as soon as the plans have been finally passed upon. The very important thing is to guard against any possible contamination of the city water from the pipes of the Locks & Canals and that will be guarded against by the state board of health as well as the local authorities.

Recent Monday Morning
City Clerk Flynn stated today that the recent petition for Dr. Mignault's friends will be held Monday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock. That there is great interest in the account is being manifested by the unusual number of telephone calls received at the city clerk's office. It is expected that the account will be completed early Monday afternoon.

Gas Lighting Contract
There isn't any copy of the gas lighting contract between the city and the Lowell Gas Light Co. in 1910, at city hall in the city solicitor's office there's a copy of the 1905 contract, when James B. Casey was mayor and Edward S. Hosmer was chief of the fire department, but not a trace of the 1910 contract. It perhaps doesn't make much difference as a copy would be easily obtainable at the office of the Gas Light company, but it is passing strange that the contract should so mysteriously disappear. The present gas lighting contract will expire on Nov. 30 and the mayor has been authorized to call for bids. The mayor doesn't know where the 1910 contract is.

Inspect Rifle Range
The officers of the local militia companies are going to inspect the Draught rifle range tomorrow afternoon and they have invited the municipal council to go along with them. New pits and a new pistol range have been installed at the range, and there has been other work done there by the lands and buildings department. The inspection will take place tomorrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Lunch will be served at the range.

More Expense Accounts
The following candidates at the municipal primaries have filed their expense accounts with the city clerk: James H. Cavanaugh, alderman, $83.10; advertising; George H. Brown, alderman, nothing paid nor promised; John P. Leavitt, alderman, nothing paid nor promised; Frank A. Warnock, alderman, $32.50; printing; John A. Crowley, school board, $11.25; printing. The candidates have until next Wednesday to file their expense accounts. The mayor has not filed his yet, but he said today that it would amount to about $300.

Changes in Schools
The changes in the schools as required by the state police are being pushed ahead rapidly by the employees of the lands and buildings department. The revolver pits at the Discant rifle range have been completed and according to those who have been there the improvements they compare very favorably with any in the state. This was requested by the state militia and their plans were to the pleasure of the boys of the militia.

A number of employees of the department are digging up the sewer leading from the Memorial building which was plugged up.

The work of painting and kalsomining the Charles street school is progressing and when completed the interior of the place will be brighter and more attractive.

The cleaning of the bas-relief on the front of the Memorial building is attracting considerable attention, scores of passersby stopping to watch the men who are doing the work.

The figures were badly smoked as a result of the fire during the early part of the year and it is a rather tedious as well as difficult job to bring them back to their normal color.

FORMER BANK CLERK HELD

PALMER, Nov. 27.—Earl D. Linne, former bookkeeper of the Palmer National bank who was arrested in the rooms of the bank at midnight on Nov. 19, waived examination in the district court today on a charge of breaking and entering and was held in $2000 for the Hampden grand jury. He also waived examination on a charge of larceny of $700 of the funds of the bank and was held in $3000 for the grand jury. The jury was told that Linne was unable to furnish bond and was taken to the county jail at Springfield.

The Pictures are Before You CHOOSE!

"NAP-A-MINIT"

Used by Dr. Gagnon in His Superior PORCELAIN DENTISTRY

Take a good look at these pictures—they tell the story of TWO KINDS OF DENTISTRY. The left hand picture is of a man being treated in the old, harsh method employed to this day by many dentists. Note the rigid position of the patient as he sits upright, gripping the doctor's arm, hindering him in his work, and making his own pain necessarily greater. Every nerve in his body is on edge—every muscle tense—he is indeed the personification of fear and pain. THIS IS DENTISTRY AS I DO NOT DO IT.

Now turn to the picture on your right. Here you see restfulness and relaxation, a patient that feels no pain, yet is in control of every other sense. He can talk and hear and watch the doctor, unhindered, do his very best work. THIS IS DENTISTRY AS I DO PRACTICE IT.

This is what "Nap-a-Minit" has done for all my PATIENTS. "Nap-a-Minit" is a positive pain destroyer and absolutely eliminates all pain in dentistry. With its use, one may have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities prepared and filled, crowns and bridge-work inserted and every conceivable kind of dental operation performed without the slightest fear or dread because IT WILL NOT HURT.

Now that you have seen the two pictures and know the story that they tell, it is up to you to CHOOSE if you have dental work to be done. Will you have pain and harsh treatment or will you have "Nap-a-Minit" and no pain at my offices? There is little doubt about your answer and when you come here you will find the greatest service and value-giving dental offices in New England.

GLASS AND JACKSON SENTENCED AT WORCESTER FOR LARCENY OF TOOLS

Samuel Glass and Clary Jackson, the two men arrested by Patrolman Killroy on Middlesex street Wednesday afternoon with a quantity of tools in their possession, were each sentenced to three months in the house of correction in the district court at Worcester yesterday. They pleaded guilty to stealing $50 worth of tools Wednesday morning from a house under construction. Detective James T. Davidson of Worcester brought the men from this city.

TWO LOCAL MEN PROSECUTED BY THE HIGHWAY COMMISSION—ATTEMPTED STORE BREAK

Two local automobilists, Philip Bibeault and Charles E. Viau, were before Judge Enright in police court this forenoon on complaints made by William MacConnell of the office of the Massachusetts highway commission charging them with violations of the automobile laws. They were complained of in two counts for having attached to their machines registration number plates that had been assigned by the highway commission to other vehicles and with driving automobiles that were not duly registered by the commission. They pleaded guilty. Mr. MacConnell appeared as prosecuting officer and related the circumstances to the court. At the officer's request each was ordered to pay a fine of $15, $10 on the first count and $5 on the second.

REPORT POPE WILL AGAIN APPEAL FOR SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES

ROME, Nov. 27, 10.50 a. m.—Although the efforts of Pope Benedict last year to obtain a truce among the warring powers over the Christmas holiday did not succeed it is reported on good authority that he will make a similar attempt this year. He is said to have brought up this question during his conference with Cardinal von Hartmann, archbishop of Cologne. The pope is represented as having expressed the opinion that it is his duty to make the effort to obtain the truce, although the prospect that his proposal will be accepted is no more favorable than last year.

ONE DEAD, FOUR MISSING

STEAMER TIVOLI BURNED IN CHESAPEAKE BAY, NEAR ANNAPOLIS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 27.—One person is dead and four are missing of the 85 people known to have been on board the steamer Tivoli, which was burned last night in Chesapeake Bay, near Annapolis. Mrs. Eva Bowden, a passenger, who was ill, died on a life raft shortly after leaving the steamer. The only other survivors were two children of Capt. Howard, the commander of the Tivoli, and two of the crew. It is thought they may have been taken aboard a tug which aided in the rescue work and proceeded to Cape Charles.

The rest of the passengers and crew were taken off by vessels which had been attracted by the blaze. The Tivoli left Baltimore last evening for Crisfield and Snow Hill, Md. The cause of the fire could not be learned.

PITTSBURGH STARS CONTRIBUTED MUCH TO THE SUCCESS OF TEAM

The remarkable showing of the football squad of the University of Pennsylvania during the past season under the tutelage of Glenn Warner, the former Carlisle coach, entitles it to more than the cursory consideration of the experts in selecting the season's champions and the mythical All American eleven. No fewer than four of the Pittsburgh players have shown enough to be included among the All American eleven, but it is unlikely that the experts will allow more than two of Warner's charges to "don" it. As those most likely to be selected for the honors are Fry and Seis, two of the most versatile athletes who have ever handled the pigskin, a word said about their careers would not be amiss. Both have played nearly every position on the eleven and have played brilliantly

The display by the Rumanian public of feeling in favor of the entente is regarded in London as an indication that the nation is in a position to back the demands of the central powers.

No definite news has been received of the renewed Austro-German offensive in Galicia. It is expected, however, that this movement will be

A Lowell Interview

Mr. Sanborn Tells His Experience

The following brief account of an interview with a Lowell man over seven years ago, and his sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

E. P. Sanborn, 68 Sheldon Street, Lowell, Mass., gave the following account of his experience on July 24th, 1908. He said: "My back was very weak and large and I suffered constantly from dull, nagging backaches and pains through my loins. If I stooped, I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were too frequent and burning in passage. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I got a box. They strengthened my back wonderfully and the backache and backache disappeared. The kidney secretions became normal and regular in passage."

KEEPS DOAN'S ON HAND

MEXICAN SITUATION

Continued

The troops scheduled to arrive today compose a provisional brigade made up from the Seventh and Twentieth regiments of United States Infantry stationed at Douglas, Ariz.

Herbert L. Gates, private in Company L, 12th Infantry, was the most seriously hurt of the two wounded American soldiers. He was shot in the abdomen. An operation performed last night was reported to have resulted satisfactorily, and it is believed that he has an even chance to recover. Arthur L. Saupé, private in the same company, was shot in the right foot.

Private Little Killed

The dead American soldier was Stephen Little, who also was a member of Company L. His home was at Fairmount, N. C.

Evidence that any attempt at looting in Nogales, Sonora, during the occupation of that town on the Mexican side of the border by Carranza forces would be summarily dealt with, was conveyed to the American side last night in reports that members of Gen. Alvarado Obregon's forces, who entered the town following the evacuation by Villa forces, had executed eight alleged looters.

Among the men executed were a Carranza captain and three Carranza soldiers.

40 Villa Snipers Killed

Latest reports of the casualties among the Villa snipers whose firing into American territory precipitated the battle of yesterday placed the total dead at more than 40.

Efforts to ascertain the exact location of the Villa forces who evacuated the Mexican town opposite here thus far have proved futile. It was generally believed, however, that they had escaped toward Hermosillo, where for several days Villa soldiers have been endeavoring to take the town from the Carranza troops.

At a conference last night with a representative of Gen. Obregon, Col. W. H. Sage, commanding the United States troops, explained that the firing exchanged between the American soldiers and the Carranza cavalrymen was due in a measure to the lack of information by him that Gen. Obregon's forces under Col. Cardenas were approaching so closely.

Villa Commander Shot American

"I had arranged with the Carranza consul to notify me when the Carranza troops arrived," Col. Sage said. "The Carranza forces were down last night and the consul failed to receive the expected information."

Col. Sage received an affidavit last night by Joshua Urbana, a fireman who worked with Edgar Bean, the American locomotive engineer, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., who was killed in Sonora early this week, which asserts that the Villa commander, Beltrán, shot Bean with his own hand. According to the affidavit, the shooting took place when the locomotive was being driven jumped the track after leaving Cananea where the Villa men had looted a bank and the properties of the Cananea Consolidated Copper Co.

TO OPEN UP RAILROAD

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 27.—Through passenger service from Washington to Mexico City by way of Piedras Blancas, San Luis and Torreon, will be established in a few days, it was announced after a conference of Southern Pacific and International and Great Northern railroad officials with Alberto Paul, director general of the National railways of Mexico.

The Southern Pacific system is to supply at once 5000 freight cars, 50 passenger cars and other equipment until such time as the Mexican railroads can be supplied with their own equipment, negotiations for which are now under way with American builders.

BRITISH SUCCESS CONFIRMED

LONDON, Nov. 27.—An official statement received here today from Constantinople confirms the British report that after the recent battle in Mesopotamia the Turks retired. The statement follows:

"On the Irak front, on Nov. 22 and 23, north of Koyun and on the Tigris west of Koutulama, the enemy, under the protection of ten war vessels, attacked our advanced positions with new reinforcements. Our advanced troops inflicted on the enemy very considerable losses in dead and withdrew to their main positions."

"The enemy attempted a further advance, but failed. Our troops made a counter attack and captured one machine gun, two ammunition cars and some prisoners. At the same place we captured a fourth enemy aeroplane."

RUSSIAN REPORT DENIED

BERLIN, Nov. 27. (By wireless to Sayville).—"Reports from Vienna say that the Russian announcement of the capture of the 'Oversen' is untrue," says the 'Oversen' newspaper. "Cartorystsk has been burned to the ground, Russian patrols which attempted to cross the Sty river were repulsed and there are no Russian forces on the west bank."

MORE ALLIED TROOPS LAND

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Press despatches from Athens say that the French and British forces landed at Salonika have now attained important proportions. The Paris of Athens gives their number at 125,000. These forces are abundantly supplied with arms and ammunition.

Some 40,000 or 45,000 more men are said to be on the way to Salonika at which port 4000 troops are debarking each day.

MOTORMAN'S QUICK STOP

A quick stop by Motorman W. E. Stone, prevented a bad accident at the corner of Merrimack and Tremont streets early this afternoon.

A horse owned by A. Belanger who keeps a second hand furniture store in Merrimack street was being driven into Merrimack street from Tremont by a young man named Goulet and as the animal turned the corner it slipped on the wet pavement and fell down directly in front of an oncoming Pawtucketville car in charge of Motorman Stone and Conductor McCarthy. Motorman Stone applied the emergency brake and brought the car to a standstill just in time to avoid passing over the forward limbs of the animal, which were stretched across the track. The horse received a cut on the head from contact with the pavement while the harness was broken. Outside of that, however, no damage was done.

FIRE IN DUMP

Fire broke out again this afternoon in the first street dump, causing a still alarm at 11:45 o'clock. The engine from the Fourth street station responded and quenched the flames after a short battle.

BOMB PLOTTERS

Daeche, Alleged Conspirator, Out on $25,000 Bail

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Paul Daeche, one of the few men whose name is linked with that of Robert Pay, sold styled German officer, in the alleged manufacture of bombs to destroy munition ships, today left the Jersey City jail where he has been lodged since his arrest and will be at liberty till next Tuesday. A surety company of this city furnished the $25,000 bond required for his appearance then in proceedings looking to his extradition here.

Daeche is the third of the alleged conspirators to obtain his liberty under $25,000 bonds. The other three, including Pay, are locked up in the Tombs here to await trial on the government's charge of conspiracy, in which all six are named.

RICIDULOUS INVENTION

BERLIN DENIES SINKING OF LUSTANIA PLANNED BY GERMANS IN UNITED STATES

BERLIN, Nov. 27. (By wireless to Sayville).—The Overseas News agency says: "According to cablegrams from Washington, as published in England, it has now been proved that the sinking of the Lusitania was planned by Germans in the United States; that Count von Bernstorff reported the proposal to Berlin and that the German foreign office expressly approved the plan."

"These stories are ridiculous inventions, the object of which is very easy to perceive. Therefore, every sensible person here expects the whole world will have sufficient common sense to value such reports at their true merit."

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The American steamer Zealandia, which recently was seized and searched by an officer and men from the British cruiser Iris at Progresso, Mex., arrived here today and ported having been pursued last night by an unknown cruiser off the New Jersey coast.

Capt. Devantier said that at 11:30 o'clock last night when he was between Brigantine shoals and Tucker's beach a cruiser bore down on him and signalled with the Morse code. The night was unusually hazy and the Zealandia ran inside the three-mile limit and thus escaped the cruiser. The captain said the cruiser was in sight for half an hour and then disappeared in the fog.

The Zealandia had on board today the original cargo of opium which was loaded at Pensacola, Fla., before the vessel sailed for Progresso. The Zealandia was at Progresso 17 days, sailing from there Nov. 20, for New York. Capt. Devantier was formerly in the West Indian service of the Atlas-Hamberg-American line. The crew are all being held in Germany, it was said.

TURKS CLAIM SUCCESS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27, via London.—An announcement from the Turkish war office today says that a large number of soldiers of the allied forces have been killed in recent fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula. The statement follows:

"On the Dardanelles front near Anafarta and Ari Burnu, our artillery destroyed some machine guns of the enemy as well as gun positions. Bomb throwers killed a great number of soldiers of the enemy who were sheltered near the landing place at Ari Burnu."

"Near Anafarta a gun of large calibre which had been directed against our position at Niretch Tepe was put out of action. The gunners were killed."

HOLY WAR SPREADING

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(By wireless to Sayville).—"According to a Constantinople despatch," says the Overseas News agency today, "The Turkish government has opened a new foreign department, the Indo-Egyptian section."

FRENCH WAR REPORT

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The French war office this afternoon issued a report on the progress of hostilities, reading as follows:

"There was nothing to report last night."

Yesterday, between Forges and Bathenay, west of the river Meuse, the enemy projected gas attacks but without result. There was no accompanying infantry attack.

"A German aeroplane yesterday fell into the river Aisne a little east of Berry-au-Bac. The aviators were successful in saving themselves by swimming. The machine was destroyed by our shells."

SEN. MARCHAND'S BILL

It Provides for State Appropriation for First St. Boulevard—Col. Sohler's Visit

Senator Marchand on the opening of the general court will introduce a bill providing for a state appropriation for the First street boulevard along the river bank from Indian Orchard. It is a bill of the state highway from New Hampshire to the sea and it is but right that the state should complete the road. The county may bear the usual portion of the expense for rough grading. This road should be laid out and completed next year. The river boulevard at the Lawrence end has been completed by the state and the county jointly. The section at the Lowell end should be done in a similar way. Lawrence in this respect is ahead of us as usual. The city of Lowell does not get its fair share of state and county funds for public highways.

Highway Officials Here
The visit of Col. Sohler to this city yesterday, may indicate an intention to do tardy justice to our city.
State and county officials will get together in a few days for a conference concerning the First street problem in this city. Col. W. D. Sohler, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway commission, and Chief Engineer Pillsbury were in Lowell yesterday and discussing road matters affecting Lowell. Col. Sohler said he hopes to complete the highway down the river to Lawrence next year by surfacing the gap in the macadam highway from a point near the artillery armory to the new road through Glen Forest.
It was further stated that the Gorham street route, which is now in process of development in East Chelmsford, will be pushed along with the as-

MAYOR CURLEY OF BOSTON WOULD LIGHTEN FIREMEN'S LOT—RULE WOULD NOT INCREASE EXPENSES

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Mayor Curley is of the opinion that Boston firemen should have one day off in three, and he believes this rule can be adopted without impairing the efficiency of the service or increasing the operating expenses of the department, because of the motorization of the department. The mayor said last night that he believes the plan can be put in operation here if it can be done in Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland and other cities where it has been in force for some time. If it can be adopted here it is believed it may ultimately lead to 12-hour daily shifts.

The mayor, last night, sent a letter to Commissioner Grady, requesting him to make a study of the "one-in-three" lay-off and report its operations in other cities.
"While the present system of one day in five," the mayor writes Commissioner Grady, "which, by the way, was adopted largely through my personal efforts, is a great advance over the former system of one day in eight, it must be apparent that the confining character of the work of the men in the fire service and the exacting nature of the same, particularly in the downtown sections of our city, cannot be other than injurious both mentally and bodily to the men in the service."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

This afternoon and tonight will be the last chances for Lowell theatre patrons to see "The Traveling Salesman." James Forbes' brilliant dramatic and comedy success which has been packing big crowds into the Opera House all the week. There are still some good seats left for tonight's performance which should be secured early to avoid any chance for disappointment.

Sunday afternoon and night at the Opera House a gala vaudeville and picture program will be offered with five featured acts and as many reels of the latest and best pictures. The American quintet, a classy five of singers and dancers, offering a novelty, the like of which has never been seen on any vaudeville stage, is one of the features. It is a big act, which has scored tremendous success in all the big cities. The University Trio, two boys and a girl, will offer a singing act that will cause the house to give them many encores. Two weeks ago this act played at the Academy of Music in Haverhill and was the hit of the show, singing seven of the newest songs hits. Kelley and Berg in a singing and talking act; Bob and Bertha Mitchell, a clever boy, a classy girl and a piano, and Pelham Lynton the English "chameleon" are the other acts on the bill and all are top notch acts in the bill and all are top notch acts in the bill and all are top notch acts in the bill.

See this big Sunday show. It is the best of the season and if you miss it

MR. REDMOND PROTESTS

Tells Parliament That the Irish Regiments Get No Credit for Their Valor

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Correspondence).—The bitter cry against the censorship heard from the front is that neither regiments nor individuals are allowed to gain any recognition or publicity for unusual exploits. "This is one of the handicaps a democracy meets in trying to conduct war on the most modern lines of secrecy."

The Japanese army in the war against Russia was the pioneer in this policy. The Japanese carried their attempts to keep the Russians in the dark so far that none of the soldiers wore any regimental marks on their uniforms.

Very few officers or enlisted men have been made popular heroes through this war, as regiments stand out conspicuously in the public eye, although officers say that several of them have achievements to their credit equaling the charge of the Light Brigade of Balaklava. So far as the regiments of the old army, "the Little Comptables," are concerned, more than a majority of their members have figured in the casualty lists months ago.

"How Could it Help the Enemy?" John Redmond, nationalist leader, cited one of the grievances of Ireland in the debate which followed Premier Asquith's speech on Nov. 2. He said: "How could it bring help to the enemy to let the people of Ireland, of Scotland, of England, and of Wales know what their own regiments are doing?"

He said that the landing at Sedra Bah in April, which was the most difficult operation of that battle, was carried out by the Dublin Fusiliers and the Munster Fusiliers, but that Ireland had no knowledge of their work except in letters from the few surviving officers.

He continued: "That kind of thing is doing us untold mischief in Ireland. One of the Dublin Fusiliers was known as the 'Pals.' It was made up of well-educated young men from the universities, public schools and the professions. They were all practically annihilated. I know scores of families in Dublin who are in terrible anguish over the death of their children. I have seen numbers of those lads."

Referring to the landing at Sedra Bah, he said: "I have seen numbers of those lads."

"Bell-Wether—to the Rubber Flock"

THAT'S what the Insider called us. He knew that we were Daddy to practically all the leading brands of Tires that now compete with us.

He knew that most of these competing Brands were born in the B. F. Goodrich Co. shops,—leaving behind, when they moved, all the Experience and Research that the production of so many different Tires had developed and accumulated.

HE knew that the B. F. Goodrich Co. had discarded forms of Fabric-Cord, or (Thread-Fabric) Tires now being marketed as "Cord" Tires by others, long before it acquired the sole Patent Rights (for America) on the original and only genuine "Cord" Silvertown Tire.

He knew that many years ago when we first put out the original and only "Cord" Tire, which is the "Silvertown," witherwithdrew it from the Market solely because it had not, as then made, Mileage enough for GOODRICH standards of Value.

This, although it was, even then, the fastest and most power-conserving Tire in the world.

HE knew that practically every great advance made in Rubber manufacturing, during the past 20 years, had its inception in the Research Dept. of the B. F. Goodrich Co. So,— —He was not at all surprised when he heard that "The Bell-Wether of the Rubber-Flock" had again set the pace with the new Black-Tread now being used on Goodrich Fabric Tires, as well as on Silvertown Tires.

Sold at the usual low Goodrich Fair-List Price, without any advance for Black-Tread features.

you will lose one of the best vaudeville treats in many seasons.

All next week, starting with a special matinee on Monday, the Emerson dramatic success, "The Traveling Salesman," which has been packing big crowds into the Plymouth theatre in Boston to capacity audiences, will be the attraction. This is one of the greatest play successes that the stage has ever known, and in offering it at popular prices the Sites-Emerson company has broken all records for paying high royalties and showing their determination to give the theatre patrons of Lowell the best at all times.

"Under Cover" is a play with a wonderful punch. When originally produced, it caused a furore throughout the country, and the critics everywhere pronounced it "more appealing and interesting than 'Within the Law.'"

It is a great play, the author, Rod Cooper, has woven around the main story a series of sub-plots that are intensely interesting. While a tense drama, "Under Cover" is also brimming over in comedy and the play will prove the most delightful entertainment ever offered.

The attraction is positively limited to one week, previous contracts making it impossible to hold the play any longer. On account of the limited engagement, patrons are advised to make reservations early. As many seats will be arranged to come as early in the week as possible, as many will be turned away the latter part of the week. The Monday and Tuesday performances are just as smooth and fine as the evening performances. Coming early will help others the latter part of the week and who are unable to see the play before.

Secure seats now. Phone 261.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Most of the cream of the present week's bill will be on hand at the special concert to be given at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening. Five of the acts which have caused so much favorable comment will be represented, and, in addition, there are a number of new acts from New York. Harry Grant, who has been presenting "The Luck of a Totem," will give a series of song numbers and a variety of other acts. Allie White, the violinist, will offer a special program for the day, and the Benjamin sisters will bring forward a new lot of variety entertainment, and Frank Garfield will give new songs and some of his imitable stories. There will be, of course, brand new motion pictures, with one special three-part number. It will be a big bill, all three hours in length, and of excellent quality.

One of the daintiest and most effective of musical acts will be the one which head the show at this theatre, the next week. The seven young women derive their titles from the costumes which they wear and also from the general character of the scene in the living room of an old Colonial mansion, just at the twilight time. The period is 1776, and there have gathered seven of the neighborhood belles for an evening's amusement. They are all excellent musicians, and the septet consists of six instrumentalists and one vocal soloist. The program, for the greater part, is composed of high class selections, the whole forming a musical assemblage above the ordinary, presented in an artistic and picturesque manner. Miss Dorothy Sherman, the pianist, is the producer of the act, and the ideas in the building of a program are hers. The instrumentalists are a pianist, a guitarist, a cellist and three violinists. Surely there ought to be the renditions of some of the most famous domestic music. No act exactly of its kind has been produced locally, for generally there is a preponderance of brass among the instruments played. In this instance they are all strings, with the exception of one piece of wood wind.

Tower and Darrell, a man and a woman, will offer a rather different kind of funny act. Miss Darrell is frequently termed "the girl with the Willard punch," and there's a real reason for it. While the team do sing and dance and utter a number of clever remarks, the act calls for the display of a well-aimed blow on the part of the lady performer, occasionally. Possibly this blow is too carefully rehearsed, but it has all the appearance of being the real thing, without possessing the momentum to it. But if that's the case then audience are getting fooled, for about every one will make an affidavit that Miss Darrell is handing to her partner the realiest of real punches. That isn't all the two have, for they are rated as genuinely funny people.

"Who Was to Blame?" is the title of a delightful little play to be given by Elsie Williams & Co. It is a thoroughly wholesome domestic comedy. The first little spot of the new comedy is portrayed in an imitable manner, and, like all pretty comedies, it has a splendid ending. Miss Williams and Charles Smith will appear in a delightful mixture called "The Bell and the Porter," and Watson and Little will give a skit called "A Matrimonial Exchange." Addie is a lovely musician, and Gene and Delaney are roller skaters. In addition to this there is the heart-stirring series of new motion pictures. Good seats in advance at the box office. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Edna Goodrich will be seen today in the leading role of the five-act drama, "Armstrong's Wife," at the Merrimack Square theatre for the last time. This marks Miss Goodrich's debut in motion pictures and she shows clearly by her stellar acting that she is a born screen star. The role which Miss Goodrich animates in this play is a woman who has been abandoned by her lover, who is a country girl who is tricked into a false marriage by a professional gambler and raffles with him to the city, leaving her broken-hearted lover, who departs for the Canadian northwest. The action of the play leads to a great climax when the gambler, her former sweetheart, and herself meet in a deserted cabin and May threatens to kill herself if the gambler shoots her champion. The killing of the crook by the police who want him on a murder charge solves the triangular problem and the girl and her real lover are free to walk together unmolested down the path of happiness. The Billie Ritchie comedy which will also be shown today for the last time is a screen, every scene is a picture of laughter. The travel picture is very enlightening, picturing many interesting scenes about Buenos Ayres. Mary Pickford will be seen tomorrow only in a return engagement of "A Girl of Yesterday." There is a chance for those who did not see her in this triumph before, and many who did see her will be eager to see her again. Remember she will appear only tomorrow at the continuous Sunday concert. Besides this five-act picture, several other reels of pictures will be shown.

OWL THEATRE

"His Wife" a vital human drama in five sensational acts, will be the attraction of the Owl today. A new emotional star, Geraldine O'Brien, is featured in this heartrending romance which tells the tragic story of a husband's heroic sacrifice for a worthless prostitute. Besides this great Mutual masterpiece many other excellent plays will also be presented.

THE OTHER LOWELL

The recent great exposition in this city proved beyond question that Lowell is no longer a mill city in the limited sense of the word. We still have our great mills and we are proud of them, but our thousands of workers are not necessarily limited to the mills for a means of livelihood. Lowell is a great industrial city filled with hundreds of prosperous and growing business enterprises, and of this booming industrial city with its prosperous population we now know more than before the recent exposition.

There is another side to Lowell which is also getting a special emphasis through the exhibition of paintings, sketches, sculpture, etc., at the Whistler house—Lowell the esthetic, the artistic, the cultured. In the ordinary references to Lowell whether in books, public addresses, or historical essays, a great deal is said about the early pioneers, the waterway system, the larger mills and factories, but little is said of Lowell's vast contribution to American culture.

In its short span of existence—for it is as yet a child among cities—Lowell has produced many writers of note, great churchmen, brilliant lecturers and essayists, celebrated inventors, painters, and representatives of the dreamers and thinkers who leave their influence on their time. The crowded bookcase in the board of trade booth at the exposition was a revelation to many of our own people, and a list of Lowell's leaders of culture would find immediate recognition far outside New England limits.

The short local stay of the great Whistler has given us an opportunity that we have not yet made the most of, for were it properly emphasized it would carry the name of Lowell into every corner of the world of art that is permeated with the personality and influence of the many-sided master. He was not particularly proud of his Lowell origin, they say, but we have his birthplace and in the way of cities that have produced all famous men, it is for us to make his name an asset in our esthetic development. Some day, it is to be hoped, we will have the replica of the statue by Rodin which is sidetracked somewhere in the land of Promise.

The exhibition of paintings and sketches at the Whistler house proves that Lowell has produced many really great artists in recent years and it also proves that there is a live interest in things artistic among our people. In the rush of the practical work-day world we may occasionally lose sight of the fact, but working quietly amongst us are many young men and young women whose names will sooner or later rank high in the ranks of authors, painters, sculptors and representatives of all the higher arts. In this city of opportunity there is also an opportunity for culture, and any skeptic must see the light after visiting the very noteworthy exhibits of art in the home where Whistler saw the light.

Henry Ford, whose personality and whose car has added considerably to the comfort and the gaiety of nations, has a new idea. To be sure he has several new ideas, many of which are not yet patented, but this idea is the king of them all. He has a plan to stop the war in Europe by chartering a peace ship which will carry a large freight of peace talkers and theorists to the Hague, provided it does not strike a mine in transit. William Jennings Bryan is invited together with ex-President Taft and every governor in the Union. Many prominent men and women have accepted the invitation and few ships since the famous voyages of Ulysses have prepared to sail under more momentous circumstances. Prominent men in all of the belligerent nations have been invited to attend the conference and there will surely be a considerable talk whatever may be said of the prospect of results.

In contrast with the beautifully theoretic plans of Mr. Henry Ford and his supporters and guests, President Wilson refuses to take part in any conference for the ending of the war, declaring that he considers such action premature. As the head of the American nation his word would carry far more weight than that of any migratory peace evangelists, and he is surely as desirous of a just peace as any man in the neutral world. Pope Benedict also has often expressed touching thoughts in favor of peace among the warring nations, but he, too, has refrained from definite action. With these facts in mind, one cannot help being very enthusiastic over the coming mission to the Hague where a few months ago some leading women of all nations met in a like conference and voted resolutions which have been drowned out by the cannon.

Still, in all fairness it must be admitted that the ideal of the peace messengers is a wonderful one, and the episode of the steamer Oscar II will fill an inspiring paragraph in history. The unfortunate part of it is that its leaders speak, and will continue for some time to speak, to nations that are not ready to discuss peace. Germany is popularly supposed to favor peace, but it is a peace that the allies cannot and will not accept. No matter how regrettable the fact, the nations at war are more interested just now in the sound of their guns than they are in any rhetorical appeals from the Hague or the Ford factory.

FASHION IS QUEEN

A fanciful tale and inspiring withal is that of the great Berlin meeting called to promote the discarding of foreign fashions by patriotic German women and the substitution thereof of a new German style which should be beautiful in the German way while being free from fashionable frills. The story goes that the patriotic German women cheered the speakers and applauded the modes of the new dress and that all went well until some live models with new Parisian gowns made their appearance. Thereupon, patriotism took a slump and the frilly frilly gowns got the vote to the discomfiture of the crown princess and all the reformers. The Kaiser was king but fashion was queen, and in the world of women the queen has the greater influence. Now, if one may be pardoned for being flippant in anything relating to the war, why wouldn't it be a good idea for Mr. Bryan to agitate a great world court of women to decide international questions, with a central court of all the leading designers and costumers of the nations. When war should be imminent, all these designers and artists might with advantage evolve some lovely lacey thing that would take the minds of the women off affairs of state and turn them to the affairs of the boudoir. Just as simple as hooking a Parisian gown—how say you?

TO INCREASE TAXES

All the country calls for preparedness, but preparedness will come high. Yet, since we must have it we must get ready to pay for it, and discussion of ways and means is timely. Some leading members of the administration are in favor of a new bond issue to cover the increased expenses, but Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury, has a different scheme. He suggests the retention of the war tax, made imperative by the expenses of the war in its indirect influence on the country, and the keeping of the duty on sugar. He also favors an extension of the scope of the income tax so that a far greater number will be affected by the income tax law. Neither the war tax nor the reduction of income tax exemptions will prove popular, since anything that would increase taxes is never popular, but the country is face to face with the fact that we must increase our defenses and therefore we must increase our revenues in proportion. Preparedness is highly attractive when advocated on the stump, but when a tax increase is debated in congress, preparedness will take on another aspect. Secretary McAdoo evidently believes it better to increase old burdens than to add entirely new ones to those the people will be forced to carry as a sequel to the world war.

'T WAS SOME FUNERAL

The L.W.V. sympathizers with the unfortunate Joseph Hillstrom who suffered the legal penalty for murder a few days ago in Utah, do not believe in masquerading in false colors, and so they revealed their true colors—or color—at his sensational funeral. This color was red, very red, and it was shown not only in the banners but in the inscription: "In Memoriam, Joe Hill. We never forget. Murdered by the authorities of the state of Utah, Nov. 13, 1915." There were no prayers and no hymns but there were songs, sung right lustily. Eight anarchists carried the coffin and there were speeches by William D. Haywood, Jim Larkin and others. Really it is hard to reconcile this with our great American democracy, but such it was right enough. A scene from the undercurrents of European politics was acted in Chicago with all America looking on, and it was acted without recourse to secrecy. Compared to this the "No God, no Country" of Lawrence was mild, but if the Chicago disgrace has an effect like that of Lawrence, it will be better for the future of the country. However we may feel about it, it was surely "some funeral," as the man in the street would say.

ON SECOND THOUGHT

Greece has thought it all over and has decided that discretion is the better part of valor. London declares that cordial relations now exist between the allies and the Greek government and no further trouble is anticipated. Greece is not expected to take up arms against the central powers, but it will not take positive action against the English and French, realizing that neutrality, with a leaning towards the allies, is the only sensible national policy when the allies have such a power over the economic and political future of the country. The troops who land at Saloniki will not be molested going or coming, and the allies have made a great gain in diplomacy. Rumania also is showing a tendency to break with Germany and the Balkan situation is brighter as seen by the war departments of the allies. Greece has evidently put on her thinking cap, to the disadvantage of the Teutonic powers.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

There is only one way to do the Christmas shopping early, and that is to begin now. It is not at all too early to begin for Christmas is not a full month of shopping days away. By shopping now one avoids the rush and incidentally the fancy prices that will soon appear on the show ships. Year after year press and public discusses early shopping and just as surely most shoppers leave it to the other one and decide that it does not refer specifically to them. Still more truly does this advice refer to Christmas malling. Packages for foreign destinations and money orders will be delayed in transit, and those who would take precautions to get their presents to their families or friends must mail them earlier than usual.

Kindly Consideration

"What is your objection to me for a young man?" asked the energetic young man. "I don't object to you," replied Mr. Cumroo, "if I seem kind of different when you're around, it's because I like you. I'm just wondering how it's going to be when mother and the girls quit welcoming you as a distinguished visitor and begin to treat you like one of the family."—Washington Star.

But Somebody May Get It

An Englishman serving his country as attaché in the British embassy at Washington, says the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has more than once been sought out by persons desirous of consulting him about thefts. To one such woman, Sir Arthur good-naturedly said, "My detective powers are quite at your service." "Frequent and mysterious thefts," said the woman, "have been occurring at my house for a long time. There disappeared last week a motor horn, a broom, a box of golf balls, a left-handed boot, a dictionary and a half-dozen tin plates." "The case is perfectly clear," said Sir Arthur, "you keep a goat."—Exchange.

His Last Moments

The dangers of travel by sea at this time have played havoc with the nerves of timid passengers. Early one morning recently there was considerable commotion on the decks of a coastwise vessel plying between Savannah and Baltimore, when a scantily clad man hurried from his stateroom and ran toward the upper deck. On the way he ran into the captain of the vessel. "What's the matter, captain?" he managed to gasp. "Have you been tormented?" "Calm yourself, my dear sir, and be prepared for the worst," answered the official. "Oh, don't tell me we are going down!" moaned the other. "Quick, where are the life preservers?" "They wouldn't be of any use at this stage," explained the captain. "Too late!" quavered the despairing passenger. "Let the captain, very solemnly, 'We've done all we can. You'll have to look out for yourself now. You see,

Something About Help Help is what heaven gives to those who help themselves. Help is also the jocular name we give to all whom we pay wages to. Or salaries. Some of them help. But not all, nay, my, Crinoline! A safer term in a good many cases would be "hired hindrances." If you hire a man to work among the shrubbery, you have to stand over him with a boot-hook and grab him by the seat of the pants every time he lifts his two-foot foot to set it down on a flower-bed or a barberry bush he has just set out. A bull in a china shop is a presidential aide, an equine artist and a master-juggler, compared with the average man who wants to work in your garden. He will transfer two bushes a day on an average, if you hurry him, and will destroy twice that much during the apportioning process. A woman who never did anything but laundry in her life will leave him with wrong clothes soaking with the right ones, will starch your handkerchiefs so you can have with it, and leave your shirt-cuffs so deflated-looking, you could weep with them, and probably do.

The new kitchen and first-floor girl will tell you that she is ready to use the O'Neil oil floor-wiper on the bedrooms upstairs, and will then hurriedly wash it and hang it out to dry in the shed. She will pick out the day you have company for lunch, and scrub the kitchen floor at 11.30. She will go away leaving the garden man to dig her 12 inches up to fill with various concoctions so as to make a rosebed of it, he will dig half-way to China before you get back to him, and he utterly refuses to reveal to you his mental operations, if any, while so doing. Somebody has truly said: "The world is a very crowded place. Yes, but what with?—Exchange."

Our Own Delicateness Dilemma Once there was a little boy whose name was Postmark Wheeze, and every Friday afternoon he had to speak a piece. So many poems thus he learned that he had a sore throat. Of recitations in his head And still kept learning more.

Now this is what happened: He was called upon one week And totally forgot the piece He was about to speak.

His brain he cudgelled, But not a word remained within his head, And so he spoke at random. And this is what he said:

My beautiful, my beautiful, Who stands proudly by, It was the schooner Hesperus. The breaking waves dashed high.

Why is the forum crowded? What means this stir in Rome? A spreading chestnut tree There's no place like home.

BIG BANKING SYNDICATE

BOSTON AND NEW YORK BANKERS TO FINANCE ST. LOUIS & SAN FRANCISCO RAILROAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A banking syndicate consisting of J. & W. Seligman & Co., Speyer & Co., and the Guaranty Trust company of this city, together with Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston, is being formed for $25,000,000 to provide the cash requirements of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad in its plan for reorganization. Under the plan as contemplated fixed charges will be reduced from $14,886,000 to a little more than $9,000,000. All the stock to be issued under the reorganization will be placed in the hands of a voting trust for five years, the trustees including Frederick Strauss, James Speyer, Charles H. Smith and Edward Prosser of this city and Postus J. Wade of St. Louis. Cash is to be provided for all the equipment trust certificates maturing prior to July 1, 1917, as well as other obligations, including $3,000,000 of receivers' certificates due next January.

TENEMENT BLOCK FIRE

OCCUPANTS DRIVEN TO STREET BY DANGEROUS FIRE ON EXTER STREET

The occupants of a six-tenement block at 19 Exeter street were driven into the street, many of them scantily clad, about 11 o'clock last night by a fire of unknown origin which started on the second floor of the building. An alarm from box 613, Aiken avenue and Cumberland road, which sounded at 11:10 o'clock, summoned the fire department and for two hours the firemen had to fight the flames which worked between the partition and were difficult to get at. The building is owned by M. L. Silverstein, who estimates his loss at several hundred dollars. The block is a three-story frame building containing six large tenements, three in the front and three in the rear. The fire originated in a vacant tenement on the second floor in the rear of the building and had made rapid headway when discovered by a neighbor who rang in the alarm. When the firemen arrived the fire was burning furiously and the occupants of the other tenements were obliged to flee. Water and chemicals were poured onto the flames and part of the walls and flooring had to be ripped out before the fire was finally extinguished. The blaze worked through the partitions from the second to the third story, badly gutting the rear of the building.

WIFE IN ITALY TO GET FINE LYNN, Nov. 27.—A fine of $25 imposed upon Sally Di Carlo in the district court yesterday, after he had been found guilty of a statutory offense, will be forwarded by Probation Officer Colby to Di Carlo's wife, who lives in Italy with her child. Di Carlo and Mrs. Grace Russo were arrested. Peter Di Carlo, who is the father of Mrs. Di Carlo, testified that he had been sent to his daughter by her husband, and Judge Lannum gave Di Carlo a suspended sentence of one month in the house of correction and imposed a fine of $25. Mrs. Russo was placed on probation.

AMBITION PLAN UNDER WAY IN CANADA—IT WILL GREATLY INCREASE CAPACITY FOR SHELLS

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—Announcement made yesterday that an ambitious munitions plan is under way in Canada by which financial houses are to be called upon to join Canadian factories in active service. It is proposed to tremendously extend the Canadian capacity for producing projectiles and to have a very substantial proportion of the Russian, French and British shell orders filled in Canada. It will mean that instead of borrowing from Great Britain, Canada will make advances of credit and funds to England.

Shell orders which have been filled or are being filled in Canada have reached the total of $500,000,000. More than 250 manufacturing firms are engaged upon the work, and it is estimated Canadian firms have installed more than $300,000,000 worth of special machinery. In Europe the munition need of France, Russia and Great Britain are syndicated for the promotion of greater efficiency. In Canada the munition business is to be organized in such a way that a large order for munitions can be handled to this country and taken care of in the most expeditious and economical manner, made from British funds placed with the Canadian government. Banking and financial syndicate, under government supervision, will probably make payments to the munition manufacturers.

Messrs. Hiltch and Brand, who recently came to Canada as the authorized representatives of Lloyd George, British minister of munitions, are now working out the details of the plan, and, it is stated, are meeting with success. With $500,000,000 of orders placed in a year, munition making has become the greatest industry that Canada has ever had. The orders already placed in Canada this year will bring more money, it is pointed out, than will be brought by the Canadian wheat crop, although that is the greatest in the dominion's history.

CONCORD TO PREPARE

ENTHUSIASM MARKS MEETING IN STATE ARMORY CALLED TO FORM A RESERVE MILITARY CO.

CONCORD, Nov. 27.—The same spirit of enthusiasm that marked the conduct of the people of this town more than 130 years ago in preparing themselves against the invasion of a foreign foe was manifested last night by fully 500 residents at a meeting in the interests of national preparedness held in the state armory. Congressman John J. Rogers of Lowell, former Atty. Gen. Herbert Parker and Francis R. Boyer of the National Security league of Boston were the speakers.

The meeting was called by a citizen's committee of 25 to arouse interest in the project to organize a reserve military company in the town. Enrollment blanks for membership in the proposed company were distributed and some were returned filled out. It is expected that others will be returned later, for scores of business men and others have expressed the intention of joining the company.

Berlin has a club which was organized, furnished and is operated by women.

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and insistent idea of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

Located in the Heart of Things, only a golf stroke from the Pennsylvania Depot. On Broadway's throbbing centre. The Martinique is the logical New York home for those on business or pleasure bent.

REAL ESTATE MATTERS

Building Operations Less Active——Real Estate Market Brisk—Notes of the Trade

The proposed improvement of the North street property, at the corner of Merrimack and John streets, is at a standstill at the present time, owing to the failure of the several owners to agree on plans. It was expected that the work of making alterations would be pushed ahead rapidly and several of the tenants secured new quarters. According to what could be learned from those who are in a position to know, little or nothing in the way of improvement will be done until the spring.

The past couple of weeks has resulted in Memorial hall showing a decided improvement, and before the middle of December it is expected that the roof will be completed. The frame work of the roof is practically completed and within a week's time it is expected that the former windows will have been installed.

Building operations, generally, throughout the city are rather quiet at the present as they always are at this time of the year. Very little new work is being commenced, contractors being busily engaged in finishing up work on hand, especially enclosing buildings under the course of construction so that in the event of severe cold or stormy weather the interior work may be carried on.

Olive Clement has secured a permit from the lands and buildings department to enlarge his blacksmith shop at 61 Alken avenue. The present building is to be moved and an addition made to the same.

A permit has been granted to Katie Hornbrook to erect a two apartment house at 65-67 A street. The building will have a frontage of 24 feet and extend back 48 feet. It will be two and one-half stories high and each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. The estimate cost is $3700.

Louis H. Ginsburg is improving his home at 63 Royal street. Improvements are also being made by Patrick J. Reynolds in his property at 135 New hall street and William F. Thomas at 54 Grove street.

Alonso G. Donnet, lessee of the Abner Marshall estate, has been granted a permit by the lands and buildings department for the erection of a garage at 23 Riverside street.

Margaret W. Merrill is making improvements in her property at 591 Market street. Alterations are being made to the rear and side of the building in order to change the property into four tenements of three and four rooms on the second floor, one three room tenement in the rear and a new store.

Sidney M. and Sarah M. Whitman have been granted a permit to make alterations and improvements to their property at 52 Methuen street.

SIR EDWARD VINDICATED

PARIS PAPER EXPOSES GERMAN ATTEMPT TO BLAME ENGLAND FOR THE WAR

The Figaro, a leading paper of Paris has the following reply to Germany's latest attempt to fasten responsibility for the war upon England:
The "Figaro," dealing with the report of Prince Lichnowsky, says there is no need to say that there is not a word in this report which is not a lie. Sir Edward Grey, whom the Germans today accuse of incredible duplicity, is the same minister whom they have not ceased to pursue with their hate, and to accuse of having voluntarily prepared for the war and impelled the powers of the entente to take part in it. But the Germans do not confine themselves to a mere calumny, and today they attribute to the eminent British minister a prevarication of which only a representative of the Kaiser could be capable. They have not hesitated to call in the help of Prince Lichnowsky, who, like a good German, has been digging his pen in the ink to write a false report which goes to join all the other forgeries which Bethmann-Hollweg preserves so carefully. It is a mere stab in the water. As a matter of fact, the "attitude" of Great Britain for a year past, and especially that of Sir Edward Grey, has been dictated in advance to Prince Lichnowsky's report. "Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung," there is only one more liar to add to the collection already so numerous, at the head of which is written the name of William II.

FIRST NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF SECURITY LEAGUE OPENS AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The National Security league which opened its first national conference here today, is prepared to make demands for full publicity for the technical recommendations of army and navy experts on problems of national defense. It was announced by officials of the league. Three separate reports are to be prepared by the conference today, one covering the actual condition of the navy and a discussion of the policy already outlined by Secretary of the Navy Daniels; another discussing the army and Secretary Garrison's report and a third dealing with conditions in the organized militia.

Gov. David L. Walsh of Massachusetts; Luke Wright, chief secretary of war; Lafayette Young of Des Moines, former United States senator; Gov. Edward D. Dunn of Illinois; Henry A. Wise Wood, president of the Aero Club of America, and Gov. E. L. Philipp of Wisconsin.

TO "CONVERT" PRESIDENT

MRS. BELMONT GIVES $1000 TO GET
PRESIDENT TO SUPPORT WOMAN SUFFRAGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Officers of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage are wondering today how they can best make use of $1000 contributed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont for the express purpose of "converting" President Wilson to the support of a proposed suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

"The president has said he believes woman suffrage a good thing for New Jersey," Mrs. Belmont said. "We must keep at him now until he says it is a good thing for the whole country."

Mrs. Belmont also advocates expenditure of suffrage funds to induce southern congressmen to support the federal amendment. The Congressional union has received a contribution of $100 to "convert" Emma Root, who was one of their strongest opponents in the recent campaign in this state.

General Joffre, French Commander, Retires Old Officers and Promotes Young Heroes
PARIS, Nov. 27.—The constant efforts of Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, to keep the higher commands in the charge of men of proved vigor and initiative are exemplified once more by an announcement of the official journal that seven division generals and three brigade generals have been transferred to the reserve. Their places have been given to younger men who have distinguished themselves in recent operations.

Among the officers retired are Gen. A. M. B. Ducloux and Gen. de Mas Latrie.

UNSPEAKABLE CRIMES

Viscount Bryce Tells of Terrible Atrocities Committed by Turks on Armenians—Women Burned

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Viscount Bryce last night made public the details of further Armenian massacres, which in a letter accompanying them, he says "surpass in horror, if that were possible, what has been published already." "I feel," his letter continues, "that such crimes ought to be exposed to the utmost, and that the charity of other nations will more than ever be drawn to the unhappy refugees when it is known what their friends and fellow countrymen have suffered."
"Viscount Bryce says the details confirm and amplify the ghastly story by which Armenians in northern and eastern Anatolia were driven to death of fiendish cruelty. The first part of the evidence, he says, was received by the committee of inquiry in the United States and the second part comes from an Armenian gentleman at Tiflis, who received it from refugees who escaped from regions where the events happened."
"The sufferings of the peasants and the mountaineers in the regions of Van, Mush and Sasun," Viscount Bryce says "seems to have been even more terrible than those of the peaceful town folk described in part one of the report. Every successive piece of evidence increases the horror of the story and confirms the dreadful certainty of its truth."
"These atrocities were not produced by imagination. Many of them are vouched for by several coincident testimonies and the evidence is most complete. At this present phase of events the civilized world is powerless to intervene, but we must bear these unspeakable crimes in constant memory against the day of reckoning."
After giving the parts of the evidence received from the United States, Viscount Bryce says that the following extracts were taken from his correspondence at Tiflis:
"Toward the end of May, Djavid Bey, the military governor, was expelled from Van. Djavid Bey fled southward and entered Sairt with some 3000 soldiers, whom he called 'butcher battalions.' He massacred most of the Christians at Sairt, the details of which nothing is known. On the best of authority, however, it is reported that he ordered his soldiers to burn in the public squares the Armenian bishop, Egilse Vartavand, and the Chaldean bishop, Adad Sher."
"On June 25 the Turks surrounded the town of Bitlis and cut its communications with neighboring Armenian villages. Then most of the able-bodied men were taken away from their women by military visits. During the following few days all the men under arrest were shot outside the town and buried in deep trenches dug by the victims themselves. The young soldiers and children were distributed among the whole families or killed 'useless lot,' were driven to the south and are believed to have been drowned in the Tigris."
"Any attempts at resistance, however brave, were quelled by the regular troops. Many Armenians, after firing their last cartridge, either took to the hills or hid themselves in their homes in order not to fall into the hands of the Turks."
"It is in such a fashion that the German ownership, awaits today, an answer from Secretary of State Lansing to its request that an American warship to be sent to Buenos Aires to convey its steamer Winnebago to this port and save her from capture by British cruisers.

The Winnebago is loaded with dyewood for Stamford, Conn., but the company does not dare order her to sea, fearing that British warships are lying in wait. Meanwhile the American Trans-Atlantic company is collecting affidavits from its stockholders to prove that only American citizens and American capital are interested in the ownership of its fleet, in the expectation that this will lead to diplomatic representations by Mr. Lansing to the British government.

BURGLARS BUSY

Three Railroad Stations
Near Lowell Robbed
Since Thursday

Three railroad stations in the suburbs of Lowell were broken into and ransacked between Thursday night and last night, but the thieves secured nothing valuable for their trouble. In each case the telephone pay stations and the gum machines were broken open but only a few dollars were found.

The Westford depot was entered by some person or persons who after ransacking the office and finding no money in the cash drawer tore the telephone pay station from the wall and extracted its contents of about $20. There was no other money in the building as the station agent carries his receipts home each night.

The North Billerica railroad station was entered by breaking a pane of glass in a window and forcing the catch. About $20 cents was taken from the drawer and several express packages were opened but so far as can be learned none was stolen. No clues were left by the burglars.

The Billerica Centre station was entered in the same way. Express packages were handled and a few taken. The pay station and the gum machines were knocked down from the wall and their contents, amounting to only a few cents, taken.

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 27.—A jury by a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, last night held Harry H. Hinds responsible for causing the death of his two children by fire. The jury was out nearly 10 hours. The bedroom which he shared with the children was saturated with gasoline and was touched off by Hinds, the prosecution contended, as a means of avoiding punishment on a charge for which he was sought. Hinds himself was badly burned in the fire, which occurred on April 5, last. He will be sentenced later. Robert J. Crowley of Lowell, deputy district attorney, prosecuted the case for the state, and William H. Lewis of Boston, represented the defendant.

U. S. GREATEST NEUTRAL

Carson Praises America's Stand— Expresses Fear That Interna- tional Law Has Been Abolished

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Speaking as the guest of honor at the American Luncheon club yesterday, Sir Edward Carson, former attorney general, discussed "The Duty of Neutrals."

Sir Edward expressed the fear that international neutrality would be gradually abolished, or at any rate greatly encroached upon by the impotence of the neutrals themselves. After acknowledging the introductory speech, which praised him as an Irishman, Sir Edward said:

"I am proud to be an Irishman, but at the same time I am not a hyphenated Britisher."

The speaker said he would make no statement on relations, for until recently he had been a member of the cabinet, at all events a part of it, though just how much of it he never knew.

Discussing neutrality, Sir Edward said:

"America is the greatest neutral in breach leads on in the downward path almost to its abrogation."

"Just as you may decide or mystify or lull into a sense of security our own citizens by speeches and perorations—you will not thereby win a war—nor can you influence the national sphere you may" by diplomatic notes numerous and strong, satisfy the conscience of your citizens but you will not by them mere note maintain the obligations imposed upon us as parties to International Law is to prevent breaches of civilization and to mitigate the horrors of war."

The speaker then expressed his fear for the future, since if International law fails in this conflict, no faith could be put in such conventions. There could only be one safeguard for peace—increased armaments and the maintenance of greater armies than in the past," he said.

the present moment. When I mention America as the greatest neutral, naturally I relate to the conduct of neutrals in relation to the mitigation of the horrors of war. And nothing does me more with dismay when I think of the outcome of the horrible period through which we are passing than the fact—I am not blaming anybody, but it is a fact—that international law, the product of all the peace instincts of the human race, is undergoing a premature interruption to civilization, even in time of hostilities, has, I fear, been entirely abolished, or at any rate greatly encroached upon by the impotence of the neutrals themselves."

International Law

Sir Edward Carson then explained that conventions adopted in times of peace could only be upheld by neutrals.

"Abolish the power of countries not at war and you abolish international law itself," the speaker said. This way from the states has shown the latitude and powerlessness of neutrals."

Sir Edward said the invasion of Belgium showed the futility of guarantees, although they were supported by the great powers of Europe, and added:

"The necessity for the maintenance, the sustaining and supporting of international law and international jurisprudence becomes more vivid—is more brought home to us—when we remember that a breach of international law, necessarily, the rules of law, leads to reprisals—and reprisals know no limit. Therefore, the first

MORE

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 27.—Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, called upon Cardinal Gibbons today to pay his respects and outline his plans for his proposed peace commission to Europe.

The cardinal devoutly echoed Mr. Ford's hopes for a successful culmination of the project by Christmas, but he was averse to giving the manufacturer's plan his formal approval. He said he felt there were too many formidable difficulties in the way to hope for his successful culmination.

Upon leaving the cardinal, Mr. Ford said he was going to Philadelphia, where he had a dinner engagement with John Wanamaker.

LEAGUE BOWLERS BUSY

SEVERAL GOOD GAMES ROLLED LAST NIGHT—O'BRIEN OF BROADWAY CLUB HIGH MAN

The bowlers turned out in large numbers last night and the pin boys were kept busy gathering up and replacing the ducks. While there was the usual scheduled league games there were many additional private games. Although the number of contestants was very large no remarkable scores were made.

The Lawrence Manufacturing league games attracted a large gallery and some of the names were very closely followed. Although the Wellington Room took the total pinfall in its game with the Essex Knit, each team won two points. The Essex Kniters won three points from the Essex Knit while the Boarding Room quintet also took three from the Essex Knit. The game between the Essex Knit and the Boarding Room was a walkaway for the former team but the third string of the latter team won its only point. The Iron Shop and Web Knit and Shipping Department teams split even, each winning two points.

In the Broadway Club league the Pinners made it a point to one shot with the Essex and the Red Sox. The Red Sox, R. O'Brien of the Essex was high man with a three string total of 332.

There were two games played in Carr's Minor league. The U. S. Bunting was traveling along well until the Pinners came and then had a slump, but managed to finish with a total almost one hundred over the Essex Knit. The Red Sox won three points from the Pinners.

The game between the Washingtons and Wolves in the Y.M.C.I. league resulted in a victory for the former team.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Phinney Boyle, the local boxer is in demand around New England boxing centers, as the match-makers of the Gloucester, Thornton, Lawrence and the new club in Boston have applied to him for a fight. Boyle has services of the fast local boy and it is not unlikely that Boyle will have a hard time as though Boyle. Phinney is at present in New York on a short vacation and will return home in about a week to fulfill the engagements Wagner has looked for him.

KAYO SWEENEY DID NOT LEAVE ANY DOUBT

In the minds of the Lawrence fans about his hard hitting prowess when he disposed of a formidable foe in Joe Chick, Thanksgiving in a little less than two rounds. The men were boxing at a fast rate in the first round, when suddenly Kayo opened up and hammered both hands to Chick's head and body and as the ball rang Chick fell to the floor. It was seen that only a miracle could save him from a knockout, as he had to be assisted to the ring. At the beginning of the second session Sweeney came out with a look that meant business, and it did for he shot over the finishing punch in less than a minute of the second round.

MANAGER JOE CRILLEY ANNOUNCES

Gardner Brooks will positively appear at Lawrence on Dec. 9 in the feature bout of twelve rounds. His opponent will be either Young Laborer of Manchester or Mickey Brown of Malden, with the chances that it will be Laborer, for Brown acts as though he is afraid of the local flash. Laborer has a questionable decision over Brooks and Gardner welcomes the chance to win the title. Billy Brooks will meet Kid Thomas in a clean-cut final of eight rounds. Billy contends that he will beat Thomas in a clean-cut manner and the referee will have no trouble in declaring the winner.

HARRY CARLSON WILL AGAIN SHOW HIS WARES

Harry Carlson will again show his wares at Lawrence next week, meeting Pete Hartley, who knocked out George "Kid" Roach of North Adams in four rounds. Carlson, who is a local favorite, has a fine reputation and it is expected that he will surprise Carlson in no uncertain manner, but he will have to travel at top speed if he intends to keep ahead of the rugged Brockton brawler. Carlson defeated Henry Flynn at Boston last week, easily in easy fashion and his form that evening stamped him as a sure enough comer in all sense of the word.

THE ATLAS A. A. OF BOSTON WILL BE NO MORE

After next Tuesday's bouts, for the same directors will assume the old Army A. A. charter and stage boxing bouts in the National theatre building instead of the arena, which will be given over to ice skating. The promoters stage the same high class performances as they have in the past, there will not be any dissatisfaction among the fans, who realize that they have had the best bouts of the year right in Boston and the high class men are glad to appear there for the attendance is always large.

TED LEWIS IS GOING TO HAVE AN EASY GAME NEXT WEEK

Instead of meeting Charley White, Lewis will again give a boxing lesson to Mike Glover. The Englishman met Glover in his Hub debut and the South Boston man has not hit Lewis yet. White wanted to have Lewis work in a 125 pound class, but Glover and the best Lewis would do was 134 at 3 o'clock and the match was called off and Glover was assigned to the job. When Lewis met Glover before he had a snap, hitting Glover at will and when Mike attempted to retaliate, he looked ridiculous, missing the phantom Lewis by a foot.

CITY BOWLING LEAGUE

The work of the Kimball System team has been the feature of the City Bowling league during the past several weeks for this aggregation has, by its clever bowling, left its place at the bottom of the list and gone into second place, pushing the Crescents, who are leading, very strongly for first position. Although Houston leads in individual averages, Martel is the real leader, for the latter has rolled in every game. The standing of the teams follows:

SMOKY JOE WOOD HERO

RED SOX PITCHER RUSHED WELLS TO HOSPITAL IN TIME TO SAVE SIGHT OF EYE

PORT JARVIS, N. Y., Nov. 27.—"Smoky" Joe Wood, the noted Red Sox pitcher, played the part of a hero yesterday when he rushed Charles Wells, a lumberman, in his auto from Woodtown, Pike county, Pa., the home of Joe, to a hospital here for treatment.

Wells, who is a strapping life fellow, had been working on a lumber camp near "Smoky" Joe's home when he came in contact with a canthook, the hook striking him in the forehead directly over his left eye. Wells reeled and his fellow workman summoned help.

Joe speeded to the camp in his auto and made the run to this city, 16 miles, where Dr. P. E. Gessner, Joe's personal physician, attended Wells at a local hospital.

Had no aid been on hand it is likely that Wells would have lost the sight of his eye, as the prompt first aid he received from Wood aided materially.

Wood said he didn't care for any publicity as "it was only what one fellow would do for another."

SPECIAL PRIZES TO BOWLERS

During the month of November the City Bowling League will award special prizes to the three highest singles rolled on each team of the City Bowling League.

BASKETBALL COMES BACK

LOWELL REPRESENTED BY TWO FAST TEAMS—MILFORD HERE ON TUESDAY

With the football season over, local followers of sporting events are now naturally looking forward to some kind of sport to while away the winter evenings and the opportunity is presented them by Lowell men who intend to give the city some fast basketball. One of the teams is led by Harry "Bucky" Lew, the old three star and the other is controlled by Joseph Donahue, proprietor of the Crescents alleys.

The Lowell team handled by Lew is represented in the Massachusetts Central Basketball league, which is composed of the fastest teams in the state. Such stars as Bob Vance, McCarthy, Reukert, Allison, Amott, Pinneran, Kenney, Capt. Jim "Plunger" Doherty of the Worcester aggregation of giants and many other athletes who played last year in the New York state league are playing with the various teams in this league.

Lew's team bids fair to be one of the fastest in the circuit after it hits its proper stride, and this is no idle statement either when the various players are given the once over. Jimmy Grant, the Crescents' star, is a level, is without a peer in this part of the country, either as a forward or a scoring guard, and one will have to travel some distance to find a player who can compare at all favorably with Sam Follansbee for a backfield position.

At centre we have Mulvaney, a player who always gives a good account of himself no matter how hard the opposing forces make him travel. The high Nashua police inspector can play a wonderfully clean game and he can likewise hold his own in the art of roughing it, providing any of the opposing players try to put one over on him.

Herve Cote, with his shooting eye returned, is a valuable man on any team and he is also one of the most consistent contributors in the game. The other players, Paul Clark, McPherson, Hansen and Manager Lew are also good men.

Lew's forces are to get into the game with Milford Thursday night on account of Jimmy Grant's absence, and he certainly did show a great deal of form when he was in the game. The ball hit with such force that the mastoid process bone was shattered and for weeks Mr. Burrell hovered between life and death, in an unconscious condition.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Worcester and Marlboro tied for first place in the Central Massachusetts Basketball league with Milford running close in third place. Lowell with two games won and one lost is in fourth place.

The following is the standing of the teams:

Worcester	Won	Lost	P.C.
Marlboro	6	1	357
Milford	6	1	357
Lowell	2	7	250
Northboro	3	6	280
Franklinham	1	6	143

Work of Lowell Artists Exhibited at Whistler House—Some of Whistler's Included

The Lowell Art association opened its winter season last evening with a private view of what is in all probability the finest collection of paintings shown as yet at the Whistler house—and all the work of Lowell artists. It was an evening of pleasure and enjoyment with only one note of regret, and that furnished by the formal farwell of the association to Rev. and Mrs. Charles T. Billings, two of the warmest friends and supporters of the society. Mr. Billings has served as vice president, and the reception of last evening proved that he has endeared himself to the body. Refreshments were served in the supper room by the hospitably committee under the general direction of Mrs. Joseph Nesmith with Miss N. P. H. Robbins and Mrs. J. A. Nesmith pouring, assisted by a band of ladies.

The exhibition will continue during the next two weeks from 9 to 5 daily. Members of the association can gain admission by presenting this year's cards, and the general public may gain admission on payment of 25 cents. There are 27 canvases by Lowell artists and many similar sketches, studies, pieces of sculpture, embroidery, metal work, etc. Every available inch of space has been utilized and, considering the limitations of the Whistler house, the pictures are in the main well hung.

The most notable pictures are three by Whistler, the exhibition of which is an artistic event of which any city might boast. One is a large study of a girl's head for his picture, "Little Miss Alexander," and it is thoroughly characteristic of his style and treatment of portraiture. It is most appropriately hung against a beautiful piece of Japanese embroidery with a peacock motif, lent by Mrs. Mary Earl Wood. As usual with Whistler's pictures, the tones are subdued and the blue color is laid on with sketchy boldness. Another Whistler is a little water color in pale blue and gray with large masses of cumulous clouds. This sketch was made in Chelsea, and is the first of the water color sketches made there. The little picture of the fete at Ostend, from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, is most effective with its dark teeming masses over which float two great banners. These Whistler pictures were lent by Mr. Frank Gair Macomber of Boston. There is also a most effective copy of Whistler's "Little Rose of Lyme-Regis," by Miss Elizabeth Walsh of this city, the accomplished daughter of Mr. A. G. Walsh, and also a picture which has a lovely original picture in "Miss Mary," a charming child study in a striking pose.

The late David Neal, who has attained a world-wide fame, is represented by the study from the famous "First Meeting of Mary Stuart and Rizzio," and also by the "Italian Court-yard," and some studies of Italian architecture.

OSBORNE AT DEER ISLAND

WARDEN OF SING SING PRAISES PLANT—HAS INAUGURATED REFORM SYSTEM

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Warden Thomas Mott Osborne of Sing Sing prison, after spending Thanksgiving with relatives in Lincoln yesterday afternoon made his first visit to Deer Island. The trip was arranged by George Sheehan of the penal commissioner's office. Commissioner David Shaw accompanied the New York official.

After an inspection of the various departments of the work Mr. Osborne said: "Physically, and as a plant, Deer Island is away ahead of Sing Sing. The cells are much more roomy—and you mustn't forget that in our three-foot-three wide cells we often have two men, one sleeping above the other."

"But we have at Sing Sing the beginning of a system which, worked out, will reform men. I know it. It is the system, not the physical conditions of the prison, that will produce results. I have not had time to talk with the men here today, but I notice one thing. None of these prisoners will look you straight in the eye."

"In Sing Sing, it is just the opposite. The men will not only look straight at you, but will come up and speak to a visitor. If there is a reason for it."

"What I want is eventually to make of a prison a self-sustaining community. As long as society decrees that we must have prisons, the only need I see in them is actual segregation. The policing of prisons need be no more than to secure segregation; beyond that, they should be almost self-governing, like any other community."

"The state of New York owns a big tract of land which we are trying to get for a farm, to try out prison colony work. But so far we have not been able to get it."

"How well the system is working in New York may be shown by the fact that in a year I have had to discipline only two men. There have been other cases of discipline, but the punishments in these cases were all inflicted by the

Mr. Willard L. Metcalf's picture, "The Partridge Woods," is a striking canvas, full of color and the life of the open. Toned in a pale, cool green, it is decked with patterned pastel tints, and has originality written all over it. One is repaid for going to the exhibit by this one picture.

The study of Mr. F. B. Greenhalge as a child—by Mrs. Sarah Wyman Whitman—is noteworthy. There is also another charming study of a child by the same artist, lent by Miss Robbins, and a landscape study.

Mrs. Mary Earl Wood, who has a studio at the Whistler House, has lent the bold and effective portrait of Gen. Greeley and an unfinished study of Miss Sally Eastman, in which the warm flesh tints and the rose mantle arouse admiration.

Thomas B. Lawson, formerly Lowell's leading portrait artist, is seen in the self-study owned by the association, a grape study in which the treatment of light is most effective and a quaint picture of Daniel Webster in the style of a few generations ago.

John F. Coggeshall has two fine studies of landscape, one of sea cliffs and the other of an inland scene. Both are full of color and the broad treatment characteristic of his work.

The Hiltop picture by Wm. P. Phelps is one of the loveliest pictures in the exhibit. Though hung poorly, the effect of the sunset afterglow is most striking and there is a genuine inspiration in the execution of the scene.

Walter L. Dean is represented by a bright marine picture, "U.S.S. Charleston," and the late Alfred Orway has a pale and pretty girl's head—a study of Miss Isabel Nesmith.

There are many pictures by local artists, chief among which are two brilliant studies by Joseph A. Nesmith. These are executed with bold broad strokes and show modern influence. Mr. Adelbert Ames has a fine interior and the striking Indian Head. Two of his sisters are also represented—Mrs. Oakes Ames and Mrs. Andrew Marshall—the former by the lovely "Jewel Casket" in which the painting of textures is remarkable, and the latter by a still-larger picture. There is also a charming picture of Mrs. Butler Ames by Mrs. Marshall which is a really fine picture.

The wax and enamel portraits and reproductions by Miss Ruth Burke have caught the spirit of the antique and show modern influence. Mrs. Allen Hobbs and the other exhibitors who have made this exhibition one of the most notable artistic events ever held in Lowell.

SHOTS REVEAL TRAGEDY

VICKERY MAROONED ON ISLAND—PARKER DROWNED—BODY RECOVERED

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 27.—The body of Philip Parker, aged 36, of Glenburn, who was drowned by the upsetting of a canoe at Pownash lake Thursday, was recovered yesterday afternoon in about 15 feet of water, not far from where the accident took place. The body was not known until yesterday morning, when signal shots were heard from Dollar Island, and Earle Vickery of Glenburn was found on the island suffering from cold and exposure. He said that he and Parker had been hunting, and were paddling across the pond, with a fire of smoke and choppy sea. In some way which does not appear clear to Vickery, the canoe suddenly capsized. Both struck out for the nearest shore, which was Dollar Island. Vickery reached it much exhausted, but Parker sank.

Vickery managed to start a fire, but suffered much from the cold. He fired four shots at intervals, which were heard by a searching party started out by Vickery's father, who had become alarmed.

Parker lived with his father, Hiram Parker, and had recently come home after several years in the west.

THE SPELLBINDER

While it is not believed, generally, that the account will change the names of the successful nominees, nevertheless everybody seems to be lying low until after the recount.

In many cases wagers made on the results have not been paid over as the stake-holders to protect themselves are holding back the money placed in their hands, until after the registrars have gone over the ballots. It is possible that the positions of Mayor Murphy and former Mayor O'Donnell may be changed as there is a difference of but two votes between them. Many wagers were made that the mayor would be high man and many were made that Mr. O'Donnell would lead; hence the interest in some quarters in the pending recount.

Many bets were made on the possibility of Dr. Mignault's nomination, and also upon the number of votes that he would receive. There were quite a few wagers that he would get over 3000, and it is not thought that a recount can affect such wagers.

The recount will be watched with interest, also, to ascertain what "bullet," if any, it may disclose.

A Popular Issue

The different candidates in their stump speeches touched upon a variety of issues, but the most popular of all those touched upon, was the motor ambulance matter. Everybody, whether a challenger for mayor or commissioner, had a word to say about the motor ambulance, except, of course, the candidates connected with the present administration who refused to purchase the ambulance after the preceding government had left its members the necessary appropriation. One evening while Jackson Palmer was speaking a man in the crowd was arrested and the patrol wagon motored up to get the unfortunate. Taking the arrival of the motor patrol wagon as his cue, Mr. Palmer launched forth into a discussion of the necessity of a motor ambulance. He pointed out that while drunks were conveyed to the police station in a swift-moving, well upholstered motor-propelled car, the sick and injured are carried to the hospital or to their homes in a slow horse-drawn wagon, although the money to purchase a motor ambulance was available when the present administration came into office. The administration president-elect, by former Mayor O'Donnell, voted $4000 for the purchase of the motor ambulance. But before the purchasing agent got around to making a selection the new government came into office, and the ambulance was never purchased, for the present administration voted to use the money for another purpose.

The Accident at the Falls

On the assumption that candidates often say things that will attract votes regardless of their exactness, had the unfortunate occurrence at Pawtucket Falls, on Tuesday in which one boy was drowned and the others were rescued by the firemen, taken place one day later, the spectators would have had material for their evening speech. Undoubtedly they would have connected the incident with the fact that many of the waterways of the city are unprotected and that children will continue to fall in and get drowned until these waterways have been fenced off. It is not known how many children have been rescued, but the fact that a squad of police might have been despatched from the police station to the scene in the chief's new touring car or even in the patrol wagon, the police were not concerned, and was the firemen who rescued the boys.

Then the fact that after the drowning an undertaker's wagon stood at the scene for hours while the undertaker's assistants were engaged trying to recover the body of the drowned boy would have given them an opportunity to criticize the painful lack of system in the city.

In cases where undertakers perform the work in the hope of "getting the job," that properly should be done by the police department, as it is done in other cities. Had the pulmotor been needed it would have been necessary to go to the police station after it or else to have it sent up in the patrol wagon, when the pulmotor properly is a part of the equipment of the ambulance service. But why worry over trifles; there were less drunks arrested last year than two years ago.

The Knight of Make-Believe

Some of the stump-speakers and their utterances bring to mind a poem written by the late William J. Connelley, of this city, former city auditor, entitled "The Knight of Make-Believe," two stanzas of which run as follows:

"You've met him in the marts of trade,
You've seen him in the bustling streets,
In sylvan ways, in the cool shade
Of monarch maples, him you'll meet;
For he is everywhere, the knight of make-believe,
(Around whose brow my verse I weave).
Of beaming eye and velvet hand,
The knightly Knight of Make-Believe."

He batters his book with Keltic blood,
When anling for the Keltic vote,
Yet would he have it understood
His sire sailed in the Pilgrim boat,
His mother, too, were Dutch descent,
If he the Trenton could decieve,
So "liberal" in his mind is his nature,
The truthful Knight of Make-Believe."

"Faded Him to a Finish

It was in a local lunch cart, late Monday night. Two men were having a red-hot argument over the relative strength of O'Donnell and Murphy. As they argued a third man entered and when he got inside the man who had been talking O'Donnell asked him for a dime with which to get a lunch. The Murphy man who had observed the "touch" suddenly resumed the argument and when the O'Donnell supporter started to come back the Murphy man knowing the condition of his opponent's finances, said:

"Well, if you mean what you say, I'll just bet you a dollar that Murphy beats O'Donnell."

The third man, in the spirit of fun quietly slipped a dollar bill to the O'Donnell man and the latter making a fine bluff to dig into his pocket proudly produced the sheet and loudly exclaimed, "Put up your dough."

The Murphy sympathizer was somewhat disconcerted at seeing the bill, but said: "Oh, don't be in a hurry. I'm not going to run away," and he continued to sip his coffee while the O'Donnell man continued to flash the one-sheet and demand that he put up or shut up.

The Murphyite evidently had a haphazard thought for he suddenly produced a two dollar bill, and said: "I'll bet you two dollars that Murphy beats him; a dollar ain't enough."

He had visions of the fellow with the lone sheet "squealing" before the crowd, but again the "angel" who was thoroughly enjoying the situation slipped a bill to the O'Donnell supporter and the latter forthwith and with due acclamation produced the goods.

"Put up your two. I'm with you," he cried.

"Take your time; take your time, I'll be here for half an hour yet," said his opponent in a fine attempt to "stall" until he could recover from his surprise, for neither time did he see the money being passed.

But he was not to top the other fellow's bank roll. In any event, and a few moments later he declared: "I'll make that five dollars or nothing on Murphy."

By this time the third party began to wonder what he had bumped into, but he was game and when the other wasn't looking slipped his friend a five spot which the latter laid on the counter with the demand: "Cover it."

The Murphy man ordered another cup of coffee and took his time sweetening it. Then he got up and dipping into his pocket drew forth a ten dollar note and exclaimed:

"There's ten dollars on Murphy, let's see how game you are."

It so happened that the silent banker in the case was well heeled and he slipped his friend five more and the latter produced the ten and grew even more eloquent as his roll grew.

But the "angel" was on the job and the mushroom capitalist came back with the $20. Whereupon the Murphy man quickly placing his own $20 back in his pocket started for the door remarking: "There's a fine sort of man, bunning a dime for a feed with a roll in your pocket."

"And you're a finer sort of man trying to shut me up with a phoney bet when you thought I was broke," was the parting shot that followed him into the night.

What Some One Said

Says Nota Bene in the Courier-Citizen, in joyous mood:

"Let's see, didn't someone tell Perry there was a recount?"

Very truly, indeed.

But let's see, didn't the same someone also tell Perry that he controlled two papers, other than "The Sun"? Ask Perry.

What is a Public Hall?

The question as to what is meant by a public hall, is suggested by Commissioner Duncan's statement yesterday relative thereto. Commissioner Duncan says that it will be in his opinion, a waste of money to construct a public hall, when the city is already embarked on a program to build a new high school which will have a hall, the seating capacity of which will be anywhere from 2500 to 3000 persons. Such a hall, in the new building, he says will add $60,000 to $70,000 to the cost of the building and to spend that amount on a hall alone, which will be used three or four times a year, is a waste he believes. Commissioner Duncan's statements as to the hall are all right if a public hall is what he says it is, but it is the popular impression that a public hall is something after the nature of old Huntington hall, a place of big floor space and seating capacity that may be used for large public meetings, theatrical performances and concerts and even for dances, excursions and indoor athletics. It is believed that the city should build and maintain such a hall and rent it to private parties desiring its use. The use of a hall in the high school for the purposes of the public would be decidedly limited. No public meetings could be held to good advantage while either the day or evening schools are in session, and musical concerts could not be held while school was in session. Big political meetings would hardly do in a high school hall while theatricals, dances and bazaars would be entirely out of the question. The public has declared itself as favoring a public hall, and now the question arises, what is a public hall?

The Aldermanic Bullets

"How do you know there were bullets cast for alderman, and who was the beneficiary?" was the question put to the writer, yesterday.

The first part of the question is easily answered, while only a recount can determine the second part.

There were 171 blanks on the majority and 575 on the alderman.

Approximately, the number of bullets cast on the aldermanic contest, is the difference between the blanks on the majority and on the aldermanic ballots, or 508.

In a contest in which only one man can be voted for, a ballot is either entirely valid or entirely invalid. If a

INVADING FORCES ALSO HAVE RESCUED 2000 AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS, SAYS BERLIN REPORT

BERLIN, Nov. 27, via wireless to Sayville.—The number of Serbian prisoners taken up to the present time by the German, Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian troops," says the Overseas News agency, "is 101,000 officers and men. The invading forces also have rescued 2000 Austro-Hungarians who had been made prisoner by the Serbians, but later abandoned during the hasty retreat of King Peter's forces."

With the capture of the Serbian town of Mitrovitz and Pristina," the news agency adds, "the last section of the railroad from Uskup to Mitrovitz was wrested from the Serbians."

Continuing the Overseas News agency says:

Reports from the Balkan front state that the colonel in command of the Serbians in the Zovcan district before retreating ordered the destruction of the copper works there belonging to a French corporation. The blast furnaces, workshops and dwellings of the workmen were blown up and the pit was flooded. The manager of the works, a Hungarian by birth, but a Bulgarian citizen, has disappeared.

The German detachment now occupying the district is at work restoring the copper mines to their former activity."

PARDON AGAIN ASKED

SEN. GALLINGER APPEARS IN BEHALF OF JOHN WILLIAMS, SERVING SENTENCE FOR MURDER

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 27.—The governor and council yesterday afternoon gave a long hearing on the petition for the pardon of John Williams, sentenced to prison for 50 years for murder committed in Dover in 1900.

This is the second attempt to get Williams out of prison, another have been made during the administration of Governor Floyd. The pardon yesterday was asked by Senator Gallinger and others.

With others, Williams shot up the Landing in Dover on the Fourth of July, 1900, and was arrested on July 6, with four others, giving the names of John Farron, William Scott, Frank Gold and John Brown.

Of the five, Williams, Gold and Brown were identified as the men who did the shooting, by Daniel Sullivan, one of the victims of the fusillade. Williams was also identified by other persons as having been concerned in the attack.

The prisoner was represented today by Jewett Hale of Laconia and Remick & Jackson of this city, as counsel. Appearing in his behalf and asking for the pardon were United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, Mrs. Jeanette King Gallinger, Mrs. James W. Remick, Levin J. Chase of this city, Ex-Gov. Charles E. Cox of Manchester, ex-warden of the state prison, Burt Wentworth and William S. Pierce of Dover and others. The granting of the pardon was opposed by Allyn Gen. Tuttle and by the solicitor of Stratford county.

The hearing was not concluded until a late hour last evening and the matter was taken under advisement.

FOR G.O.P. CONVENTION

HOTEL RESERVATIONS FOR DELEGATES FROM NINE STATES MADE AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Hotel reservations for republican delegations from nine states, have been made here, it became known today. In anticipation that the 1916 republican national convention will be awarded to Chicago, United States Senator Weeks of Massachusetts reserved an entire floor for the Massachusetts delegation, a suite for himself and a suite for former Senator W. Murray Crane. New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa are among the states for which reservations have been made.

Republican national committeemen will meet in Washington on Dec. 14, to decide where the party's convention is to be held.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER SUNK
LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Norwegian steamer Klar has been sunk. Her crew of eight men was landed.

The Klar was owned in Christiania. She was 148 feet long, 318 tons gross, and was built in 1884.

Rescued by Firemen

At the accident at Pawtucket Falls, on Tuesday, but for the prompt and efficient work of the PAWTUCKETVILLE FIREMEN six children instead of one would have been drowned.

Whenever and wherever in Lowell an emergency has arisen affecting the public welfare the firemen have always been on the job.

On more than one occasion the Lowell firemen have been called upon to render assistance at fires in Boston, Lawrence, Nashua, Haverhill, Ayer, Manchester and other places but NEVER in local history have they been obliged to call upon help from outside.

The critic will say: "Lowell hasn't had any big fires."

Lowell has not had any big fires on account of the efficiency of Lowell's fire department, which has been able to cope with the most serious of them without calling for outside aid.

The fact that the Lowell firemen have successfully battled the greatest conflagrations is the surest proof of their efficiency.

At present the Lowell firemen are confined at the fire-house 168 hours continuously, between their days off; they ask for one day off in five which will mean 96 hours of continuous confinement at the fire-house, instead of 168.

The one day off in five will increase rather than diminish the efficiency of the Lowell fire department.

Secretary Lowell Firemen's Club.
